SECRETARY SHAW AS HE APPEARS TODAY

LESLIE M. SHAW, SECRETARY OF THE U. S. TREASURY.

"FINEST I EVER SAW" SAYS SHAW OF FAIR

Secretary Climbs to Top of Art Hill and Looking Down at the Massive Buildings Remarks: "Gentlemen, It's a Gem."

Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury of the United States, made a record-breaking trip through various departments of the World's Fair Tuesday, and then, climbing Art Hill over sand piles and mortar beds, halted in surprise and delight.

With hands stuffed deep into his pockets, his hat pulled far down over his eyes that took in every detail of the scene, and with his voice rising in a volley of comprehensive questions, he looked over the lagoons and toward the palaces. Then he declared impressively:

"Gentlemen, it is a gem. It is the finest thing that I have ever seen. The view from this point cannot be surpassed."

At a trust company's office he read a vast number of telegrams and then, at 10 o'clock, entered the Transit company's special car "Electra" for his trip to the World's Fair grounds.

The trip to the Administration building occupied 45 minutes, during which Mr. Shaw plied his companions with questions and amused them with anecdotes. At the Administration building he met all the heads of department and staff members at a 15-minute levee, and then stood for his picture, recognizing the photographer, Mr. Barr, as an old Iowa friend, and telling him he "could come to Washington any time, and he would have free entrance with his hat on."

Then followed the trip to Art Hill, after a carriage ride through the grounds. All the buildings were seen, although none of them was entered until the Iowa building was reached. Here the secretary stopped for a few minutes, and led the party rapidly on a tour of inspection.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the party started toward the city, to take a 2 o'clock luncheon at the Mercantile Club.

Business Before Breakfast for Shaw.

With his mind intent on business only, Mr. Shaw overturned all the plans of World's Fair officials for an elaborate breakfast at the Planters' Hotel Tuesday morning and insisted on going at once to the World's Fair grounds, where the work of the day was to be done.

A light lunch eaten on a buffet car entering St. Louis was all that the secretary had to eat before beginning the day's work.

In company with a large delegation of World's Fair officials and directors he arrived in St. Louis at 8:45 o'clock, one hour and thirty minutes late.

Secretary Shaw came to St. Louis from Chicago. His purpose is to convince himself if possible that the Fair company has expended $10,000,000, which is a condition to his turning over for its use the government's $5,000,000 appropriation.

He was escorted from Chicago by Vice-Presidents Corwin H. Spencer and Augustus Gehner of the Fair company, Secretary Walter B. Stevens, and Directors John Schmeer, Festus J. Wade, A. L. Shapleigh and George T. Cram.

Vice Presidents Spencer and Gehner and Mr. Shapleigh entered the carriage with Mr. Shaw and started toward the Planters' Hotel. The other members of their party went to their homes or offices.

"Mr. Shaw will have breakfast at the Planters'," said Secretary Stevens as the carriage with the secretary of the treasury moved away. "Then we shall go from there at 10 o'clock, or soon after, to the ... Grounds."

YACHT RACE OFF; WIND TOO LIGHT

If the Weather Permits the Trial Will Be Made on Wednesday.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—There will be no yacht race today. The air is too light, and the course is covered with a thick haze.

Should wind and weather permit the boats will race tomorrow. Reliance has won two races, and should she win the next that will end the contest. The cup will remain on this side the Atlantic. There seems to be no doubt about the outcome. There is no betting as Shamrock has no backers now.

Despite the weather conditions that made it almost a certainty that no race could be sailed, the yachts made for the starting line when the wind was not over three miles. They lay about the lightship for more than two hours, in the hope of the wind freshening, when the committee boat signalled the race was off. The yachts dropped their sails, picked up their tows and made for their anchorages at Sandy Hook.

The committee boat started up the bay, flying the signals for a race tomorrow.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Missouri—Generally fair Tuesday night and Wednesday; slightly warmer Wednesday and in south portion Tuesday night; variable winds, becoming southerly.

Illinois—Generally fair Tuesday night and Wednesday; slightly warmer Wednesday; variable winds, mostly south.

Indiana—Generally fair Tuesday night and Wednesday; variable winds.

Iowa—Generally fair and cool Tuesday night and Wednesday; variable winds, becoming southerly.

WOMAN IN BLACK POISONS A BRIDE

Mrs. Emma Vogtli Tells the Story of a Mysterious Person Who Went With Her to Summer Garden.

IS IT REVENGEFUL JEALOUSY?

Wife of Two Days, at Companion's Request, Talks of Her Husband, Drinks Glass of Beer and Becomes Critically Ill.

Mrs. Emma Vogtli, a bride of two days, is recovering at the City Hospital from a mysterious dose of poison. Tuesday she was pronounced out of danger. The police are looking for a woman in black, who spent Monday afternoon with her.

Mrs. Vogtli was taken to the City Hospital Monday evening from 1413 Cass avenue, where she rooms with her husband. She was unconscious from what was thought to be strychnine, which it was supposed she had taken with suicidal intent.

After an hour's work by the physicians she recovered consciousness and is now out of danger.

She denied having taken poison of any kind of her own knowledge, and thinks that she was poisoned by a woman whose name she does not know, but with whom she went to Delmar Garden Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Vogtli says that as she left her house to go out for a car ride she met this woman standing at the corner of Twelfth street and Cass avenue. The woman was well dressed, wore black clothes and was about 5 feet 4 inches tall, and would weigh 150 pounds. She had dark hair, dressed pompadour style, and dark eyes.

She accosted Mrs. Vogtli and asked her the way to the garden. Mrs. Vogtli, thinking she might as well go in that direction as any other, took the car with the woman and they went to the garden, the unknown paying all the expenses.

They drank some beer and in this Mrs. Vogtli thinks she was poisoned. The woman seemed curious about Mrs. Vogtli's husband and asked her various things about the marriage and how she came to meet the man she married.

Mrs. Vogtli told her the story of her simple romance. During this recital the woman seemed nervous. Mrs. Vogtli says, and soon got up and excused herself. She was not seen afterward by Mrs. Vogtli, who was soon taken sick and did not try to hunt her up.

Mrs. Vogtli thinks the woman was an old friend of her husband and was prompted by jealousy and for revenge.

Mrs. Vogtli was taken home very sick, but did not know that she had been poisoned. Her illness alarmed other people in the house and they called an ambulance.

HARRY HAWES IS BACK FROM EUROPE

St. Louis Police President, in Good Health and Loaded Down With Souvenirs, Reaches Gotham.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Harry B. Hawes, president of the board of police commissioners of St. Louis, arrived in New York today on the steamer Wilhelm der Grosse.

He brought back sunburns, a new kind of tourist's cap, a few trunk loads of souvenirs for his friends and handsomely carved mallets for his enemies, and some new information as to the management of police forces.

He did not bring back Judge Jim Cronin and would not even admit that he had seen that tourist of "Ireland and Europe."

Mr. Hawes will spend a few days in New York and the East and then start for St. Louis. A telegram from a St. Louis friend, evidently informing him of a shakeup of some kind in the police force, was received soon after his arrival. He did not disclose the contents of the telegram, but was apparently not pleased.

Mr. Hawes has been in Europe for several weeks and has visited London, Paris, Berlin, as well as various watering places and smaller cities.

He declares that he has enjoyed his trip greatly and has gained in strength and health.

Fortune in Indian Territory.

Mrs. Lucy Riker, who lives on Theodosia avenue, near the city limits, will soon depart for the Indian Territory, where she expects to take possession of an estate left by her grandfather, Maj. George Halfmoon. Advices received by Mrs. Riker indicate that the estate is very valuable.

"BROTHER DICK SAVES THIS GOLDY-LOCKS"

LITTLE BOY SAVES DROWNING SISTER

Golden-Haired Adelaide Haynes Falls Through Treacherous Platform Into Bluff Side Lake.

A hero in knickerbockers is Richard Haynes, aged 12, of 1808 Rutger street.

Richard saved his 9-year-old sister from drowning under circumstances which would have made the feat creditable for an able-bodied man.

When Adelaide fell through an insecure platform into Bluff Side Lake, "Dick," as the tiny rescuer is affectionately known by his family and playmates, jumped into 6 feet of water after her, without stopping to call for assistance from grown men and women near-by.

A board connects the posts of the platform about a foot above the water's edge. Dick grasped this with his left hand. When his sister's golden curls bobbed up he seized her dress with his right.

While his mother and sisters were frantically crying for help, Dick's tiny arms clung to the board and to the little red dress.

Finally, after what seemed an age to the anxious mother, her husband, Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Haynes, jumped in the water and carried little Adelaide out.

Dick climbed back on the platform as calmly as if he were geting out of a rowboat, while his mother and sisters hugged him with joy.

Bluff Side Lake, where the thrilling rescue occurred, is nine miles from East St. Louis, near the village of Columbia. Chief Haynes is a member of the fishing club that controls the lake. With his wife, his two elder daughters, Lalite and Irene, and the younger children, he spent last week there.

The family planned to return home Monday morning. Sunday evening they all went to the lake for a farewell visit.

Mr. Haynes took a boat and rowed out into the water. Mrs. Haynes and her daughter, Irene, stood at the edge of the platform that projects about 12 feet from the shore, watching the fish as they jumped from the water.

Dick and little Adelaide played about the platform.

They tired of watching the fish and started to run back to the bank, where they saw Miss Lalite coming up the road.

Adelaide had taken only a step when she missed her footing, and, in some way, tumbled headfirst through the planks of the platform.

Dangerous enough in itself, her mishap was made much more serious when she struck her head against a minnow box built under the platform.

Her face was terribly bruised and cut up by contact with the box and there was blood on the water when she sank from view.

Dick Makes His Brave Plunge.

Little Dick followed his sister in an instant. He was quite familiar with the platform and carefully avoided the minnow box, jumping near the crossboard connecting the posts.

He hung by his left arm, with his right hand free to catch his sister when she reappeared. He calculated wrong, for the golden hair and little red dress soon reappeared just where he could lean over and reach.

Chief Haynes had seen the accident from his skiff. He rowed mightily to reach the shore, then ran along the bank until near the platform, where he waded in.

With water up to his mouth, he reached for his little daughter and lifted her safely from his boy's grasp.

Little Adelaide says that Dick would not release his hold until certain that she was in her father's arms.

"I told him papa had me, but he wouldn't ... said. 'But when papa said, 'Brother Dick, let go.' ... of a physician to ...

YOU CAN BE AN LL.D. FOR ONLY $10

"Nashville College of Law" Confers the Honorary Degree on a St. Louis Pastor.

The Rev. George E. Bates of 7125 Emilie street was greatly surprised to receive in the mail yesterday a letter from the "Nashville College of Law" announcing that the title LL. D. had been bestowed upon him by that institution.

Mr. Bates was also surprised to be informed in the letter that the fee for such conferring was $10, upon receipt of which by the aforesaid college he would be sent a handsomly engrossed sheepskin, bearing his new title.

While Mr. Bates feels highly honored that the Nashville College of Law should have taken the trouble to hunt up his name in the city directory, he does not want the title from any such source nor will he send the $10 for the handsomely engrossed diploma.

The letter announcing the so-called honor is certainly a work of art from the confidence man's standpoint. It is filled with phrases and bits of word painting that would make Cyrano de Bergerac turn pale with envy. It is also unconsciously humorous, inasmuch as it tells its recipient that: "The sun of your life is already slanting toward the west and the dial-finger of time is pointing towards the closing scenes of your professional life." This the writer declares, reminds him of the words of the late Richard Stoddard: "When white hairs thatch the furrowed brow."

Inasmuch as the Rev. Mr. Bates is only about 27 years old he feels that the above phrase is somewhat inappropriate.

The letter announcing the "great" honor is signed by William Farr, president. Among the other unique things he writes: "Could your friends feel the unostentatious ecstacy which pervades the recesses of your heart in rejoicing in your happiness, I am sure they would say, 'It is well.'"

Again he writes: "I trust as the years may come and go that your heart may be filled with ecstatic joy of an almost satisfied ambition."

The writer closes by welcoming Mr. Bates as an alumnus of the Nashville College of Law, which he trusts "may be held by you and your posterity in sweet remembrance, and that it may continue to prosper and bloom and bear fruit like the lily of the valley and the rose of Sharon."

"BOBS" NOT COMING THIS FALL.

Lord Roberts' Visit to the United States Deferred.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Although Field Marshal Lord Roberts is still booked to sail for Boston on the Mayflower, Sept. 23, it can now be definitely stated that he is not going to the United States this autumn. The alteration in his plans was necessitated by the postponement of the British army maneuvers until the middle of September because of the bad weather, which has retarded the harvesting of the crops, and the situation in Somaliland, the war office not wanting Lord Roberts to be absent while the new East African campaign is in preparation.

CLERK LOOTS CASH DRAWER.

Detectives, Waiting Outside Drug Store, Place Him in Custody.

Clarence K. Max, a clerk at the Enderly drug store, Broadway and Market streets, was arrested at midnight Monday by Detectives Cordell and Kiely, who saw him take $40 from the cash register before leaving the store.

Max disagreed with his employer Monday afternoon, and said that he would quit work Monday night. During the afternoon he is said to have confided to a fellow-clerk that he intended robbing the cash register. The employer was notified and he asked Chief Desmond for protection.

A warrant charging Max with larceny was issued Tuesday morning.

LAUGH CHANGES TO CRY OF DEATH

Young Girl's Misstep in an Elevator Hurls Her Between the Wall and the Cage.

HER LIFE CRUSHED OUT

Annie Malloy's Companions Fainted When They Saw Her Terrible Death in Shoe Factory.

A misstep at the entrance to a shoe factory elevator during the lunch hour Tuesday turned the merry laugh of Annie Malloy into a shriek of fear and a quickly hushed moan of death.

She had been working on one of the upper floors of the Friedman Shoe Co.'s factory at 3417 Locust street all morning, and with the sounding of the noon whistle had rushed playfully, with a score of girl companions, toward the elevator.

The car was moving as she stepped toward it. She missed her footing and in an instant was caught between the moving cage and the wall and crushed.

Cries of fright and horror came from her companions, who had crowded together in and before the elevator, and some of the more nervous of the girls fainted.

The car was stopped as quickly as possible, but it was too late. Death had been almost instantaneous.

The body was cruelly mangled. It was taken to the morgue in an ambulance.

Miss Malloy lived with her parents at [illegible] La Salle street.

CLAIRVOYANT HAS 29 DOGS AND CATS

Tells Judge She Is a Humanitarian, Not an Animal Fancier—Neighbors Complain.

Mme. Booth, clairvoyant and fortune teller, informed Acting Judge Spaulding of the Dayton street police court Tuesday morning that she is the friend of stray dogs and cats, and in the past six years has expended $2000 in providing homes for such waifs.

"I do not love pretty poodles and couture tabbies," she said. "It is only the poor, homeless, flea-bitten curs and kittens that I like. I am sorry for them. I am a humanitarian, not an animal fancier."

The occasion of this declaration of principles was the arraignment of the woman on the charge of maintaining nuisances. It is alleged that she keeps two kennels in rear rooms, one at 1510 Wash street, and the other at 1507 Franklin avenue. In the first kennel are two dogs and eight pups; in the second, 19 dogs and seven cats, each with an individual yelp or yowl.

SEPTEMBER BEGINS WELL

Prediction "Fair and Probably Warmer Wednesday" Follows Good Weather Tuesday.

September came in this morning with blue skies, autumn sunshine, and very little wind. The first weather forecast for the new month sounds encouraging: "Fair tonight and Wednesday. Probably warmer Wednesday."

The temperature at 7 o'clock this morning was 61.

Cool weather has not been the exclusive property of "old Saint Louis" these last few days. The Mississippi, Ohio, lower Missouri valleys, the lower lake region and even the southern states tasted a bit of the autumnal.

The upper lake region, the extreme upper Mississippi valley, the upper Missouri valley and the adjacent British possessions are having some warm weather. Rainfall was light yesterday. It was confined to the lower lake region, the middle Atlantic states and eastern Texas.

FIRE ALARM CALLED POLICE.

Max Leavitt Pushed the Button and Judge Did the Rest.

Max Leavitt of 910 Biddle street rang for a policeman to arrest another person and the fire department responded. A little later the policeman came and arrested Leavitt for turning in a fire alarm. It was all a mistake on the part of Leavitt, who mistook the fire alarm for the gendarme button. He pressed the button, and Acting Judge Spaulding of the Dayton Street Police Court did the rest—namely, fined him $5.

Leavitt stated Tuesday morning that a boy named Sam Kronsberg had hit his own little boy, two and a half years old, on the head with a stone, and he sought to call up a policeman to whom he could turn over the Kronsberg boy, whom he caught in view of Leavitt's newness in this country. Judge Spaulding remitted the fine as the defendant paid the costs.

FIRES OF REVOLT BURN IN PANAMA

Indians Reported to Have Gone on Warpath to Join Gen. Herrera's Forces.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Sept. 1.—Travelers from Panama report the isthmas alight with fires of a new revolution.

The Indians have risen and the late followers of Gen. Benjamin Herrera are mustering in the mountain villages preparatory to joining an organized revolt caused by the rejection of the Panama canal treaty.

Hundreds of stacks of arms confiscated by the Colombian government at the close of the late revolution have reappeared from some mysterious source. With the arms goes ammunition fresh from factories, showing the movement is not spasmodic, but carefully planned.

Travelers from Panama to Plonta Arenas say that in Panama it is reported that Gen. Herrera has disappeared from his home near Bogota, and is presumed to be on his way to the isthmus.

If this is true, Herrera will probably again assume command of the revolutionary forces and cast his lot with the isthmian people, as was his intention had the late revolution terminated in favor of the Liberal party.

Gen. Victoniano Lorenzo, who was banished to Coucau after the surrender of the Liberal forces last December, has escaped, and is presumed to be in the marches making his way back to the isthmus. Lorenzo had 7000 Indians in his following, and it is believed he will have little difficulty in rallying the old forces if he succeeds in making his way back to San Carlos or to any other contiguous point.

From Chorrera comes the report that he is in that locality mustering the Indians. At Bujulota, Col. Arcouca is in command of well-mobilized forces.

Dispatches from a Bogota correspondent assert that the Panama canal treaty was rejected by the Senate because of the imperative nature of the notes received from Secretary of State Hay and United States Minister Beaupre.

These notes, the correspondent declares, were regarded as offensive.

The main question now discussed is whether the United States will be willing to enter into new negotiations, or will simply let the matter drop and take up the Nicaragua route.

Immediately after the treaty was rejected, exchange went up to 12,000 per cent discount.

An Unreasonable Complaint.

From the Fliegende Blaetter.

"I'm sorry to say, Minna, the things that you cook don't taste just right."

"But, ma'am, I've only been working for you three days! You'll gradually get used to my cooking!"

CUBA CRIES FOR AID IN FIGHT ON AWFUL PLAGUE

Appeals to American Doctors to Devise Cure for Deadly Scourge That Menaces the Island and Kills Quicker Than Bubonic Disease.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Menaced by a terrible disease, which has baffled the best medical skill of the island, the medical men of Cuba have appealed to the authorities of Columbia University of this city and Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia for aid in determining the nature of the disease.

Eminent pathologists and bacteriologists are at work in an effort to determine the nature of the disease. The work is being guarded with the utmost secrecy. All details of the investigation are refused.

The disease in many of its symptoms resembles bubonic plague, but it is said to be more swift in its progress and more deadly in its effects.

It first appeared some months ago in the isolated town of Daiquiri, province of Santiago. Men employed in the iron mines in that locality were the first affected. The disease did not yield to treatment and the mortality was greater than in yellow fever or any kindred disease. It spread throughout the entire southern coast of the island.

The inhabitants became panic-stricken, and the Spanish-American Steel Co., which has offices in Philadelphia, was appealed to.

The description of the disease furnished by the Cuban physicians shows it to be one of the worst known to medical science. It presents the worst symptoms of yellow fever, black fever and spotted fever.

Patient Usually Dies in Few Hours

The patient is usually dead a few hours after first complaining of illness and turns a bright yellow after death.

It is in the death agony that the disease presents its most horrible phase. The victim's pulse rate rushes to 160, a heart beat which is deemed almost impossible by physicians of experience. The respiration counts 58.

These organic disturbances, together with a temperature of 107 and 108, do not cause instant death.

The patient lies gasping for breath until the terrible fever generated eventually burns out life.

Several physicians, who have served on the west coast of Africa, report that the new disease resembles the "black coast fever" of western Africa more than anything else. The treatment provided for this fever, however, has no effect on the new disease.

In almost every instance, the victim has been a sufferer from intermittent, or malarial, fever, and an examination of the blood always reveals the presence of the malarial germs.

It has been found in practice that a patient, who is filled with malaria, frequently throws off the new disease much more easily than one who has not had malaria.

Some of the physicians, who have attended the cases, insist that it is the strange manifestations of malignant malarial fever.

It has spread to such an extent that much of the work at the iron mines is at a standstill. The health authorities of the island are fearful that it will devastate it. It brought about an appeal to the American authorities for aid. Dr. J. Booker of New York, when questioned, said:

"Despite the optimistic view of those interested in the matter, it would seem that this country is really menaced by the plague. Not in years has there been a similar outbreak and the fact that the attending physicians are all at sea would indicate that there would be great trouble in controlling its spread.

"I should think that the 'fever' was one of these diseases which comes under the general head of 'cerebro-spinal meningitis.' This disease, generally speaking, is similar in its symptoms to the various plague diseases which have appeared from time to time. They have all been difficult to cure and control.

"Even if the present outbreak is confined to Cuba and finally disappears, it seems to me that the danger to this country will exist for several years to come.

"The United States government has been fully aware of the dangers of the plague.

"The officials have been seeking to keep the real nature of the diseases from the public, at the same time offering to co-operate with colleges having the investigation in charge. The reports received from the medical institutions will be forwarded to the government officials at Washington and Havana, and further action by the United States will depend entirely on what the reports contain.

Don't Do That.

Some old men act like they imagine they are regular "lady killers." Don't do that.

Some young men think it is smart to be considered dissipated and "fast." Don't do that.

There are young ladies who never think of practicing upon the piano unless it is time to wash the dishes. Don't do that.

A boy always makes a nuisance of himself when he tries to make people believe he is older and tougher than he really it. Don't do that.

Some employes have a habit of losing the last hour of the working day by watching the clock. Don't do that.

CAUSES OF THE POLICE CHANGES

Politics, Bribery Investigation and Factionalism Seen in the Dismissals and Reductions.

M'AULIFFE CASE ALSO FIGURES

Commissioner Blong Triumphs Over Harry Hawes in the Reduction of Three Men.

Many changes in the police department become effective today. They are the first results of the general shakeup in the department.

Two sergeants are discharged and 23 reduced to the rank of patrolmen. Three detectives are reduced to the rank of patrolmen. Thirty-eight patrolmen are discharged. Seventeen patrolmen are reduced to the rank of turnkeys to take the place of turnkeys who have been dropped.

Sergeant Dowdall's ambition to become superintendent of the workhouse is said to be responsible for his reduction. Dowdall was a protege of Harry Hawes.

Sergeant John Lally's report on the killing of John McAuliffe did ont help the case. Lally, it is said, tried to protect the two policemen, Kennedy and Burke, who were afterwards held by the coroner's jury for the killing.

The dismissal of Patrolman Mantkowsky, who worked on the McAuliffe case, is also accepted as significant of the strength of McAuliffe's friends.

The bribery investigation and politics also figure in the board's action. Sergeant Gustave Lehmann of the Fifth district is a brother of Julius, mein host of the famous birthday party, and Sergeant Joseph Speed of the Central is a brother of former Coal Oil Inspector Richard Speed, who told Circuit Attorney Folk that he gave Senator Lyons $800 in the presence of Secretary of State Sam Cook.

Factionalism Seen in One Reduction.

The reduction of Sergeant Frank Dolan of the Seventh district savors of factionalism in the police board. Dolan is a brother of "Long John" Dolan, the Democratic central committeeman, who in the recent election befriended Hawes in the latter's fight against Blong over the election of Justice of the Peace Hanley in the Sixth district.

Sergeant Charles Neun of the First district is a Republican.

Policeman John C. Bruce of the Third district, who was dismissed, was accused of harboring in his home the kidnaped child of Mrs. Katherine Baumann.

Of the 38 patrolmen who were dismissed only two will be entitled to a pension of $1000 from the Police Relief Association. Those are Thomas Elliot and Conrad Nau, both of whom were retired on account of physical disability.

Patrolman Patrick Wall of the Central district, who was reduced to the rank of turnkey, has been stationed at Sixth and Locust streets for many years.

The Board of Police Commissioners gave out the list of changes at 1:30 this morning. They are:

Blong's Power Seen in Changes.

The strength of Andrew Blong in the police board was manifested in the reduction of Sergt. William Hoffner of the Second district to the rank of patrolman. Hoffner is a brother-in-law of Dr. Hochdoerfer, post mortem physician, and a close personal and political friend of "Tony" Stuever and Dr. Frank J. Lutz, who are among Blong's dearest political enemies. It is thought certain that Blong's desires in the matter prevailed with the board.

This idea is not weakened by the reduction to the rank of patrolman of Sergt. Daniel A. Hanley of the Sixth district. Hanley is a protege of Blong and a brother-in-law of William J. Hanley, over whose election as justice of the peace Blong and Harry Hawes fell out. It is freely predicted that Hanley's early promotion to his former rank will prove that Blong sacrificed him temporarily for the purpose of clearing himself of the charge of personal prejudice.

Blong is supposed to have scored again, and to have delivered a direct slap at the absent Mr. Hawes, by securing the reduction of Sergt. S. R. Taylor of the Tenth district. Taylor and Hawes are close personal friends, and there is little doubt that he will regard the sergeant's reduction as a gage of battle thrown down by Blong.

LANDLORD MAY ENTER YOUR HOME

Judge Spaulding Rules Against Tenants in Contention on Duplicate Key Question.

According to a decision of Acting Judge James Spaulding of the Dayton street police court, rendered Tuesday morning, the landlord of a house has a right to use a duplicate key and enter the private apartments of his tenant while the latter is absent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Paton, who, until recently, occupied three rented rooms at 508 West End place, in a house then owned by Theodore Polster of 507 Theresa avenue, caused the arrest of Mr. Polster on the technical charge of disturbing their peace.

The Patons, who now live at 2935 Lucas avenue, testified that on Aug. 9 they locked their rooms in West End place and went for a car ride, and that upon their return they found the doors and windows of their apartments open and Mr. Polster and three strange ladies in the rooms.

Mr. Paton stated that he remonstrated and Mr. Polster explained that the ladies were considering the purchase of the house and he had opened the rooms with his duplicate key to show them the interior.

The Patons were highly indignant that their landlord had entered their home without permission. They moved away and caused Mr. Polster to be cited into court.

Judge Spalding discharged the defendant.

FLED WHEN FENDER SAVED HER

Car Crew Had to Chase Little Girl to Get Her Name for Their Report.

Hulda Freymuth, daughter of George Freymuth of 2906 Sarpy avenue, owes it to a working street car fender that she was able to go home unaided after a Market street car had struck her at Manchester avenue and Sarah street.

The child was running across the street when an eastbound car struck her. The fender worked perfectly and, picking her up, tossed her into the street at one side uninjured.

Screaming in fright, she jumped up and ran for home with the conductor and motorman who wanted her name and address for their report, in full pursuit. They caught her, secured the information and also learned that she was unhurt.

ADMINISTRATION IS WAITING ON COTTON'S SHIPS

Nothing More Can Be Done in Turkey's Case Until the Admiral's Fleet Anchors in Harbor of Beirut Friday or Saturday.

SULTAN'S MINISTER BLAMES BULGARIANS FOR TROUBLES

Says They Spread Reports of Revolution in Moslem Empire Where, in Realty, Great Tranquility Prevails —Also Scores Armenians.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—At least four days must elapse before there can be any development in the Turkish incident. That is the way officers of the administration figure. If anything happens, it will be because the Turks initiate it. The American program calls for nothing before Saturday morning or Friday evening at the earliest.

That is the time Admiral Cotton is due to arrive off Beirut with the Brooklyn and the San Francisco. The administration will await his report.

Chekib Bey and Secretary Hay have had a long conference. Secretary Hay accorded him all the rights of a minister, and said after the interview that he would continue to do so, notwithstanding the facts that the bey has not yet presented credentials.

"There is no trouble," said the minister, when asked by a correspondent what caused the commotion at Beirut.

"Where do the reports printed in the newspapers come from?" the minister was asked.

"From the Bulgarians, from the Bulgarians," he declared with much warmth. "All the enemies of Turkey are busy spreading exaggerated reports."

"There are no Bulgarians in Harpoot, are there?"

"No, no, but there are Armenians there. They are worse than the Bulgarians. You ought not to believe anything that comes from Armenia or Bulgaria. They are enemies of Turkey.

"If there was trouble anywhere my government would advise me. I do not have to have a message every day, every hour, telling me there is no trouble, in order for me to know that tranquility prevails.

"I know the best relations exist between Turkey and the United States and they will not be disturbed."

"Not even when the ships arrive off Beirut?"

"They have not yet arrived," said the minister, shrugging his shoulders, as if to indicate that the American ships are no more certain of arriving at their destination than are some of the ships of the Turkish navy that are tied to the docks, absolutely unable to go to sea, because necessary repairs have been neglected for years.

"If any Americans or American interests have been injured," continued the minister, "Turkey will have justice done. She will protect all Americans and needs no assistance.

"It is unfortunate that your ships have been ordered to Beirut, because there was no necessity for the action. Turkey will protect the Americans and will punish those who injure them in any way."

WEAPONS OF DEATH USED BY ST. LOUIS CRIMINALS TO BE SHOWN AT FAIR

Sledge Hammer With Which Millionaire Cooper Was Slain, the Revolver Used by Kilpatrick and the One Used by Wife Murderer Callaway to Be Displayed.

The skill of criminals will be pictured at the World's Fair in the shape of an exhibit by the metropolitan police departments of the United States. The local department is already at work gathering material for its portion of the unique and interesting display.

Only the methods of the craftiest criminals will be shown. There will be no space thrown away for the display of amateurs' and bunglers' work. The exhibit will be a real one from the expert viewpoint of men who have devoted most of their lives to the study of criminology.

A week ago a delegation of police chiefs from various parts of the country visited St. Louis and selected a site for the proposed exhibit on the World's Fair grounds. That was the beginning of the work that must be done before the exhibit is finally completed.

One must be thoroughly acquainted with nearly if not all the most startling crimes committed during the past half century in order to realize the scope and nature of the proposed police exhibit.

Of course, there will be explanatory inscriptions accompanying each object, but if the spectator is not "up" on all the facts which surrounded the cases to which the various objects are related to them half the value of the display will be lost.

For instance, the rope with which Maxwell, the slayer of Preller, was hanged is to be featured among the relics of the local department, and to those who never read of the fiendish manner in which Preller was put to death, the chase over land and sea after the murderer, his sensational capture and return to this country and his long and tedious trial, the bit of hemp will be recognized only for its distinction as a part of the hangman's noose.

Desmond to Exhibit Burglars' Tools.

Desmond's famous collection of burglar tools, however, will be an exhibit in itself, for it has been said that the local chief of detectives has the finest collection of this kind in the world. In this outlay is included safe-blowing apparatus, skeleton keys, fake gambling paraphernalia, jail-breaking tools, counterfeit money, dynamite, knockout drops, dope pills, flash-rolls, revolvers, jimmies, in fact everything that goes to make up a crook's workshop.

The sledge hammer with which the negro, Strother, beat out the brains of his millionaire master, A. Dean Cooper, will also be placed on exhibition by the local department, as will also the huge revolver with which Ben Kilpatrick, the lone train robber, succeeded in terrorizing so many travelers and express messengers.

A picture gallery containing the faces of some of the most noted crooks in the world will also form an interesting part of the local exhibit.

The bulldog revolver used by wife-murderer Callaway when he killed his young wife as she stood at her post of duty behind the counter of one of the downtown department stores will occupy a prominent place in the local collection, as will also the hand-made saw used by Noble Shepard to cut his way through the steel wall of the city jail.

Display by Other Departments.

Of the character of the displays to be made by the departments of other cities little is known by the local officials as these matters are being jealously guarded by the different departments in an effort to excel each other, but it is believed that the Buffalo department will produce some mementos of the Burdick murder-Pennell suicide mystery. New York will probably show a reproduction of its electrical execution chair. Buffalo may also include in its exhibit the revolver with which ex-President McKinley was assassinated. The ring found in the sausage vat in which Mrs. Luetgert met her death may be sent down from Chicago. The bottle which contained the poisoned bromo seltzer that Molineaux was charged with sending through the mail and which resulted in the death of Harry Cornish is still in possession of the New York police and may be sent on to St. Louis as a part of their exhibit.

Desmond will have the originals of drawings that have appeared from time to time in the St. Louis newspapers having to do with local police work. Pictures of "Lord" Barrington, Rudolph and Collins. There will also be a picture of Desmond's famous "sweatbox."

The exhibition will be an interesting one.

SAY SHE GUIDED CHICAGO BANDITS

Prisoner Admits He Was Leagued With Men Who Killed Street Car Employes.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—With a confession implicating himself, and naming Gustave Malatesta, a former convict, as leader in the raid, John Sleuder, a prisoner at the Englewood police station, is said, by Capt. Shippy, to have told a complete story of the $3000 robbery and double murder at the Chicago City Railway's receiving office early Sunday morning.

"I told him (Gustave Malatesta) that at 2:06 Sunday morning the owl left the barns and that this would be the best time to attack the cashier," said Sleuder. "I posted him bout the policeman on the beat and the barn watchman.

"I knew what time the barn watchman would be on the upper floors pulling his clocks, and also at what time the employes about the place would be least likely to interrupt the job."

Sleuder, who is a former employe of the railway company, denied knowledge of the names of the other two men who participated in the crime, but the police believe he eventually may be brought to reveal their identity.

Grant's historic farm will be added to the trolley resorts of St. Louis by the St. Louis & Valley Park Railroad Co., if the St. Louis county court grants the franchise for which the company's directors have asked. 200 MINERS DYING ON A YUKON TRAIL

Terrible Sequel to Rush to New Gold Field Without Necessary Supplies.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—Capt. Perkins, commanding the United States post at Fort Egbert on the Yukon, has wired the war department for authority to send a relief expedition to two hundred impoverished miners who started in July on a five-hundred mile trip through a trackless wilderness from Nazina river in the Copper river valley to Tanana river, thence to Yukon.

Miners hurried into Nazina last spring only to find that placer prospects there were only workable by hydraulic mining on a large scale. Hearing of a new strike on the Tanana river, they started overland, carrying but small supplies, supposing that provisions could be purchased at several trading posts en route.

Three miners were rescued from starvation by Henry Bratnober, who is exploring the Alaskan mineral zone for the Rothschilds and the London Exploration Co. In a small tent, exhausted, unable to move and hardly able to speak, he found P. A. Lettig, whose home is at Delano, N. Y.; William Kruhm of Baltimore and Henry Behrens, who said he lived in New York city.

For three weeks these men had lived on berries, but finally their strength gave out and they had lain down to die. They told Bratnober that the trail from Nazina to Tanana was being traversed by two hundred men in the same situation as themselves.

TRY MILLIONAIRES FOR MANSLAUGHTER

New Jersey Officials Hold Railway Directors for Nine Deaths in a Wreck.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 1.—Six millionaires and five ordinary railroad men are on trial for manslaughter. They are the directors and officers of the North Jersey Street Railway Co., in one of whose cars eight school girls and one boy were killed on the morning of Feb. 19 last in a collision with a Lackawanna train.

The trial is of more than ordinary interest because for the first time in this part of the world men of the prominence of these street railway directors are put in peril of imprisonment for homicide.

Under the law of New Jersey the extreme penalty that may be visited upon each reperant, if found guilty, is 10 years' confinement at hard labor in the state prison and fine $1000 fine.

The best known of thedefendants, who today solemnly marched into the ancient courtroom and sat within the bar, facing Chief Justice Gummere and Justices Bennett, Van Sickle and Jonathan Dix, are Edward C. Young, president of the North Jersey Street Railway Co.; J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.; Dr. Leslie D. Ward, vice-president of the Prudential Insurance Co.; John D. Crimmins of New York, long noted as a millionaire contractor and philantropist; J. Roosevelt Shanley, contractor for great works of public and private enterprise. They compose the executive committee of the road.

The other defendants are employes of the road.

The chief allegation of the prosecution is that, in the face of the positive laws and full knowledge of the facts, the defendants failed to protect a dangerous railroad crossing.

GOTHAM BARBERS' TROUBLES BEGIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The new law regarding barber shops has become operative and, beginning today, any "tonsorial artist" in New York state caught shaving a customer without washing his hands in warm water and soap, or using a powder puff, or a towel, on more than one person without its having been washed, will be subjected to imprisonment and fine.

No alum or other astringent may be used in stick form to stop the flow of blood. The use of sponges is strictly prohibited.

Mugs and shaving brushes must be thoroughly washed after use on each person.

Combs, razors, clippers and scissors must be thoroughly cleansed by dipping in boiling water or other germ destroyer after every separate use. Other provisions made for the cleanliness of shops and every barber must have a certificate procured an examination before a state board.

KNIGHTS' DRILL AND DRAMA

Women's Auxiliary of Negro Pythian Order Will Give Exhibition at Coliseum Tuesday Night.

An exhibition drill of the Colorado signal corps, a band concert and a parade are three of the principal features of the international encampment of the negro Knights of Pythias Tuesday. The play, "Damon and Pythias," will be given in Music Hall Tuesday evening.

The Uniform Rank, commanded by Major-General R. R. Jackson, is encamped at Hoehn's Grove for the week. Music is furnished by the military Knights of Pythias band of Chicago, and guard mounts, dress parades, drills and band concerts are part of the daily program.

The formal sessions of the Order began at Pythian Hall, Jefferson and Lucas avenues, Tuesday morning, with Supreme Chancellor Starks presiding.

Thursday afternoon a street parade and military display of the Uniform Rank will take place, and an exhibition drill by the Ladies' CaClanthe Drill Club, Capt. Jessie D. Robinson commanding, will be given at the Coliseum in the evening.

Public Honor for Prelate.

A public demonstration at Music Hall will be part of the welcome extended to Archbishop J. J. Harty of Manila by his former congregation, St. Leo's, on his return from Rome. Gov. Dockery, President Francis and other prominent men will be invited to participate.

COMMODORE NICHOLSON OF OUR NAVY

Recommends Pe-ru-na—Other Prominent Men Testify.

Commodore Somerville Nicholson of the United States navy, in a letter from 1837 T street, N. W., Washington, D. C., says:

"Your Peruna has been and is now used by so many of my friends and acquaintances as a sure cure for catarrh that I am convinced of its curative qualities, and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."—S. Nicholson.

United States Minister to Guatemala Indorses Pe-ru-na.

Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, U. S. Minister to Guatemala, ex-member of Congress from Kentucky, in a letter from Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am fully satisfied that your Peruna is efficacious remedy for catarrh, as I many of my friends have been benefited by its use."—W. G. Hunter, M. D.

Member of Congress from Virginia Writes.

Hon. G. R. Brown, Martinville, Va., ex-member of Congress Fifth District, 50th Congress, writes:

"I cheerfully give my endorsement to your Peruna as a cure for catarrh. Its beneficial results have been so fully demonstrated that its use is essential to all persons suffering from that disease."—Hon. G. R. Brown.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low stations, that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The highest men in our nation have given Peruna a strong endorsement. Men representing all classes and stations are equally represented.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

AMERICA CONTROLS WHEAT SITUATION

All Europe Looks to the United States for Year's Supply of Her Breadstuffs.

FARMERS HOLD FOR ADVANCE

American Crop Estimated at Same as Last Year's and the Quality Is Very Good.

C. H. Seybt, a St. Louis expert on breadstuffs, has collected facts regarding the wheat supply of the world tending to show that America controls the situation and can determine whether prices shall go higher than they are at present.

American control is due chiefly to the fact that htre is a small visible supply of wheat with no brilliant crops as there were last year and that the consumption has largely increased.

Mr. Seybt says the average European buyer is still sticking to his notion that the American wheat crop will prove big enough to meet the wants of the old world without a material advance in prices. The government report of April 1 last, which talked about a fabulous wheat crop and the talk which continues in Wall street about satisfactory crops are referred to, says, Mr. Seybt, by the European to prove his wisdom in feeling easy.

"Let us be liberal," he says, "and estimate this year's wheat crop at about the same quantity as that harvested last year. The quality is undoubtedly better and will yield more bread, but our visible and invisible supplies on Aug. 1 were much less than a year ago. The American farmer has plenty of storeroom for his wheat, and soundness makes it safe to hold, and he is evidently determined to get more money for it. Popular sentiment is a serious factor in market conditions. Hence it is a logical inference that American exports will be perceptibly less than during the last two seasons and that a free flow of American wheat to Europe has to be coaxed by higher prices.

"Later in the season the prospects for next year's wheat and the December harvests in Argentine and Australia will be new features in the situation. The European harvests are one and two months later than in this country. It is too early to estimate them closely, but it is conceded that Europe will require larger importations than last year. While Russian crops are said to be good in the main, it is hardly probable that Russia can exceed, or even equal, last year's phenomenal yield.

"England, France and Germany, the principal buyers and consumers, admit greater requirement of breadstuffs for this year. Austria and Hungary will have considerable less to sell, while none of the other European countries claim specially good harvests or crop reports."

A study of the statistics of wheat movements, Mr. Seybt says, shows that America sent to Europe 30,000,000 bushels less than last year and 21,000,000 bushels less than two years ago. East India and Argentine made up the deficiency, and Russian shipments by large increases bear out last year's statements of phenomenal crops.

The most remarkable thing about the whole situation, according to Mr. Seybt, is that although last year's European crop was of phenomenal size, this year was a record-breaker for importation, and yet there is little increase in the stock now on hand in the primary ports, and the stock in middle hands is notoriously small. The European farmer, furthermore, is not credited with carrying reserves beyond the normal.

European papers are asking what has become of the 1,704,000,000 bushels raised in Europe besides the millions imported. Poor quality and increased consumption of bread, as a result of the high price of meat, and the failure of the potato crop are said to have used up the supply in Europe as well as in the elevators of American farmers.

Only relatives and intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar left immediately for Boston, and will return to St. Louis about October 1, residing at the Edgar home, 4375 Lindell boulevard.

The entertainment will consist in musical recitations and readings by Mrs. Hedrick, violin recitals by Ferguson talent, songs by Mr. Louis Dodge, and closing with a series of tableaux entitled "Marguerite's Vision," representing some of the great women of history. FIGHT IN DARK WITH CRAZED MAN

Two Policemen Sent to Arrest John O'Brien Could Not Tell Friend From Foe.

John O'Brien, aged 25, is dying at the City Hospital of a fractured skull as the result of a desperate battle which he fought in the dark with Officers Roe and Ford Tuesday morning.

O'Brien's father, Timothy O'Brien, proprietor of a grocery at Twelfth and Spruce streets, rushed into the Central District police station at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning and excitedly informed the police that his son was in a drunken rage at the family home, 1236 Spruce street, and was trying to kill the family.

Officers Roe and Ford were assigned to the case. They found the house in darkness. O'Brien, knowing his father had gone for the police, had run upstairs. Officer Roe went up the back stairs and Officer Ford up the front. They were warned that O'Brien was in a drunken frenzy, and advanced cautiously, calling upon the man to surrender.

There was no answer.

Officer Roe reached the head of the stairway, and was advancing along the hall when he encountered O'Brien, crouched and waiting, with a policeman's club in his hand. The police do not know where he got the club.

Could Not Tell Friend From Foe.

O'Brien had the advantage, and got in the first blow. It stretched Roe on the floor with a 6-inch gash in his scalp.

Officer Ford heard the blow and rushed into the battle. The darkness was so intense that he could not tell friend from foe. Roe was attempting to regain his feet, and was fighting desperately. In his excitement and eagerness to help his fellow, Ford began laying on with might and main. He supposed the nearest man to him to be O'Brien, and showered his blows upon him, whereupon Roe, who was catching the blows, supposing them to be delivered by O'Brien, cried:

"He's got me, Ford! He's killing me!"

This unfortunate means of identification enable Ford to turn upon O'Brien, who was still upon his feet and striking viciously with his policeman's club. Ford clubbed his revolver and closed with the drunken man.

Roe was by this time down on the floor. Mrs. O'Brien and her daughters were screaming down stairs. Ford swung at O'Brien with all his might, and, finally, struck him full and fair on the head, bringing him down with a fractured skull.

O'Brien was taken to the hospital in a dying condition.

VERTEBRA REMOVED TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Benjamin Lockett Hovers Near Death but the Surgeon's Knife Has Given Him a Chance.

Falling from a tree into which he had climbed to recover a little boy's kite, stuck in the branches, may cost Benjamin Lockett of 1305 Clinton street his life. He now lies unconscious at the City Hospital with a broken neck.

Lockett's fall fractured one of his cervical vertebrae and his skull. The skull wound is not considered especially serious, but as one of the plates of the fifth neck vertebra was removed, he will go through life with a brace about his neck even if he recovers.

When Lockett was picked up from where he had fallen, Dr. Amyx of 1943 North Eleventh street saw that the injured man had a broken neck and ordered him taken to the hospital.

As the broken vertebra pressed on Lockett's spinal cord he was unable to move any muscle below the broken bone. An operation was decided upon as the only possible means of prolonging his life.

The operation was a simple one, scarcely more difficult than that of raising a bit of bone pressing on the brain and was similiar to it. The injured vertebra was laid bare and the broken plate removed. During this time the spinal cord was exposed and the knife of the surgeon, had it deviated a hair's breath, would have caused a permanent paralysis of the body or death on the operating table.

Lockett had a temperature of 104 degrees Tuesday morning, and his recovery is considered doubtful, although he has a bare chance of pulling through.

NEGLECTED WHILE ILL.

Now Mrs. Tessie M. Henkel Asks for Divorce From Charles C.

Tessie M. Henkel claims that the neglect by her husband, Charles C. Henkel, during her illness of six months, constitutes sufficient grounds for the divorce which she has asked.

Mrs. Henkel says she was married to Henkel April 7, 1902, and that during her illness, when she seldom left her bed, he not only did not nurse her, but spent many of his evenings away from home. She asks that her maiden name of Harrison be restored.

Horse and Rig Have Vanished.

A horse, silver mounted harness and a two-seated trap belonging to T. J. McLean of 5645 Cates avenue are missing. The outfit was sent by Mr. McLean's order from the boarding stable to the Cabanne Club. Mr. McClean later decided to use a street car, and the next time he wanted his rig he was told at the stable that it had not been returned.

PRETTY WOMEN THE COLUMBIA FEATURE

Pretty women are the features of the Columbia bill this week.

Out of the dozen good acts which go to make up the Columbia program, half of them are either wholly or in part by women performers and several of these women would take prizes in any beauty show.

This is particularly true of Miss Louise Brehany, who sings just as well as she looks, and Mayme Gehrue, who, in a sketch with John Ford, both sings and dances in a manner that captivates the house.

Then there is Mme. Emmy, who is fair, fat and—well her age isn't given on the program, but it must have taken some years to train that collection of dogs to do the tracks they do; Anna Caldwell, who tells a good lot of stories and sings some popular songs; Cecil Jefferson in coon songs, and Mattie Wilkes, the partner of Ernest Hogan, the colored comedian, who is a dusky beauty of the first water.

For the most part the entertainment at the Columbia this week is good. In addition to those already mentioned there is an acrobatic act by Kelt and Kelt that is the equal of anything ever seen at the Columbia. Then there is John Gilbert with his quaint comedy, who certainly makes good; McKenna's wonderfully trained dogs, Keys and Evans, sketch artists; Foster and Foster in a first-class musical act and the kinedrome, which is really deserving of more than passing mention.

OPENING IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Orrin Johnson made his debut as a star at Powers Theater last night before an audience that taxed the capacity of the house in the dramatization of Hallie Erminie Rives' novel, "Hearts Courageous," by Ransay Morris and Franklin Fyles.

It is a revolutionary play, the scenes being located at Yorktown, Williamsburg and Winchester, Va., and Independence hall, Philadelphia. In the latter city is shown the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Patrick Henry is made a conspicuous character in the play, and delivers his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech. Mr. Johnson played the part of the French nobleman sent to America as a special messenger from the king of France, pledging that country's aid to the colonists should they go to war with England. The play and the star were remarkably well received, each making a distinct impression.

George Ade's new comedy drama, "The County Chairman," received its first Chicago production at the Studebaker Theater last night and scored a hit. The comedy is founded upon life in the middle West, and carries a pretty love romance, with a political background.

The comedy was brought out under the management of Henry W. Savage, and was presented by a capable company, headed by Maclyn Arbuckle. The initial production of "The County Chairman" was at South Bend, Ind., on Friday last.

Harrigan's New Offering.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—Repeated applause greeted Edward Harrigan's new "Under Cover," at the Boston Theater last night. The audience was a large one, and the witty lines of the play kept it laughing continually. All the songs are catchy and were encored again and again. The stage settings were elaborate and showed to especially good advantage on the Boston's large stage. Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles occupied a box, and evidently enjoyed the performance thoroughly.

SINCE BABY CAME.

(Minnie Curtis Wait in Chicago Advance.)

I love my own dear mother more,
Since baby came.
I understand what once she bore,
Since baby came.
The long, hard nights and weary days,
She knew through all my childhood days,
Since baby came.

I love all other mothers now,
Since baby came.
There seems a halo o'er each brow,
Since baby came.
Their hopes, their joy, their grief, their care,
I now can comprehend and share,
Since baby came.

And all the children that I meet,
Since baby came.
Seem far more precious and more sweet,
Since baby came.
A fresher charm for me they hold,
As I watch one small life unfold,
Since baby came.

I honor all true fathers more,
Since baby came.
I know their worth as ne'er before,
Since baby came.
The wealth of love they can bestow,
Their toil, their sacrifice, I know,
Since baby came.

My heavenly father seems more near,
Since baby came.
His love for me now grows more clear,
Since baby came.
So many things not understood
Reveal themselves through motherhood,
Since baby came.

Wants to Sink Test Holes.

The St. Louis Pneumatic Tube Co. applied to the board of public improvements Tuesday for permission to sink test holes on the south side of Pine street between Nint and Tenth streets. The company desires to see what obstructions there are beneath the surface of the stree's along which it proposes to construct conduits.

Maude: I saw you out riding with young De Blank last evening. How did he impress you?

Clara: Oh, he didn't impress me at all. I can't endure bald-headed men.

Maude: Why, his head isn't bald.

Clara: Yes it is—inside.

T ON LABOR DAY.

Made for Delivery of h at Syracuse.

, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Arrange- y have been completed for trip to Syracuse to attend t the opening of the New York State Fair. Accompanied by a small party, President Roosevelt will leave Oyster Bay on the night of the 6th, arriving at Syracuse Monday morning. At 10 o'clock he will review a great Labor Day parade. Shortly before noon he will be escorted to the State Fair Grounds, where he formally will open the fair and deliver his Labor Day address. Returning to the city later in the afternoon, the President will review the parade of the letter carriers. In the evening former United States Senator Frank S. Hiscock will give a dinner in honor of the President. President Roosevelt's party will return directly to Oyster Bay, arriving here the morning of the 8th.

Why Not?

Next to a husband who is a good provider, a woman's greatest joy must be in a daughter who is fond of housework.

ARBITRATION THE REMEDY FOR ALL LABOR TROUBLES

Judge Gray Tells a Post-Dispatch Correspondent It Bridges the Chasm Between Capitalist and Workman and Restores the Human Touch.

BUT IT MUST BE VOLUNTARY OR IT WILL BE A FAILURE

Labor Unions Have Come to Stay, He Says, and Both Employer and Employe Should Recognize This and Get Onto Amicable Ground.

BY JAMES CREELMAN.

Staff Correspondent of New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 1.—Judge George Gray, president of President Roosevelt's commission which settled the giant anthracite coal strike, has just returned from Alabama, where he succeeded in settling the serious bituminous coal strike.

Judge Gray spoke fully and frankly on the subject of strikes today, declaring his hope for the future and defending President Roosevelt against the charge that interference in the anthracite strike was a trespass on the rights of private property.

Two cardinal statements stand out boldly.

One was that labor unions had come to stay; the other that arbitration will yet be the means of settling labor disputes.

The judge is giant in stature, big-boned, broad-shouldered, lion-headed.

He has an immense head and strong features. His hazel eyes are large and he looks straight at you when he talks. His nose is Roman—the nose of a man who knows how to command. The jaws and chin are ponderous.

But for a deep, low voice and a rare dignity of presence, his personality would be gladiatorial. He is the embodiment of disciplined virilities, a man singularly averse to demagogery and devoid of the personal magnetism that makes for success in politics.

He speaks deliberately, without gestures, and with a distinctly magisterial manner. He is gravity itself.

"I believe that we will find a solution of the question involved in this struggle between capital and labor," he said. "We will solve it in our own way, along lines of humanity and common sense. But it will take a long time.

"Habit changes slowly when the change is real and permanent.

An Arbitration System Is Necessary.

"We have got to have some system of arbitration to avoid the settlement of questions by force in civilized states. I am confident that there is a bottom fact in human nature in which we can find an alternative of violence and the strong hand.

"If new labor is used to displace the old labor, and a settlement is effected only by the use of the police, the question is whether we have not purchased peace at too great a price; and I think that employers are coming, and will come, to see that they will have more advantage in a peaceful settlement with the old and accustomed labor than by rudely settling a dispute by bringing in new labor at lower wages or altered conditions.

"My opinion is that labor unions have come to stay. The tendency of organized labor is to bring better men to the front. That tendency is marked.

"The two men who represented the strikers in Alabama brought to the discussion which resulted in the settlement a gratifying spirit and intelligence.

"As we go on labor will pass through its Gethsemane of strikes and discords and come out on a plain and recognize a true purpose and method consistent with the best ends of human society.

"I think that personal contact in the settlement of labor questions is educational to both employer and employe. Both sides have something to learn.

"I dare not hope that there will not be serious labor troubles in the future, but I feel that there will be a betterment of conditions.

"As business is being done on an increasingly larger basis, the distance that separates the workman personally from his employer increases. They do not and cannot see each other as much as they did in former conditions. The human relations grow fainter.

"Arbitration tends to bring them together, to bridge the chasm, to restore the human touch.

"I do not believe in 'compulsory arbitration.' That would not be arbitration at all.

Defends President's Stand in the Anthracite Strike.

"As I said before, I do not believe that the future is to be without trouble arising in disputes between capital and labor, but I do believe that each decade will see a nearer approach to a reasonable settlement of the disputes that the last has furnished."

"It has been said, Judge Gray, that the intereference of President Roosevelt in the anthracite strike, considering the power and influence of his office, amounted to a modification of the property rights. How does that criticism strike you?"

"I have no hesitation in saying that the President was confronted in October, 1902, by the existence of a crisis more grave and threatening than any that had occurred since the civil war. He was without legal or constitutional power to interfere, but his position as President gave him an influence that enabled him to appeal to the patriotism and good sense of the parties to the controversy and place upon them the moral coercion of public opinion.

"So far from its interfering or infringing upon property rights, the President's action tended to conserve them.

"The peculiar situation, as regards the anthracite coal interests, was that they controlled a natural monopoly of a product necessary to the comfort and to the very life of a large portion of the people.

"A prolonged deprivation of the enjoyment of this necessary of life would have tended to precipitate an attack upon these property rights of which you speak; for, after all, it is vain to deny that this property, so peculiar in its conditions, is affected with a public interest.

"I do not think that any President ever acted more wisely, courageously or more promptly in a national crisis. Mr. Roosevelt deserves unstinted praise for what he did."

FLED TO JAIL FROM 2 WIVES

Much Married Man Told Police He Would Feel Safer There While Victims Sought Him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Joseph Lauer, 20 years old, has astonished the Brooklyn police with a request to be locked up.

"I have got two wives," he explained. "Both are looking for me with a warrant, and I think I'd rather spend the night here than go home."

The police readily accommodated him.

Lauer explained that he married his first wife, a girl of 18, last November. Later, he met one of 20 and also wedded her.

Recently, the two wives discovered Lauer's duplicity and went into court together, where they procured warrants.

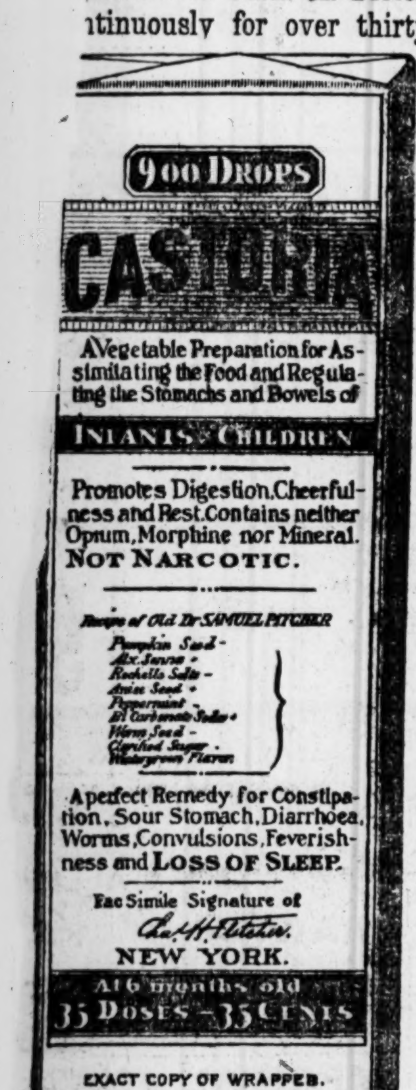

While they were gazing from the court room window, a man resembling the husband passed. An officer captured him, but he soon established his innocence.

Lauer heard of this and "made himself scarce" until he appeared at the police station.

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of sands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. USED HIS WIFE AS HIS BANKER

Now John S. Seketer, in Court Convicted of Assault, Declares His Method Was Madness.

"Never use your wife for a banker,' is the motto of John S. Seketer of 927 North Fourteenth street, who paid into the exchequer of the Dayton Street Police Court Tuesday morning $3 and the costs as the result of a difficulty with Mrs. Seketer over the possession of $50.

Last December Seketer and Miss Nellie Collins of 1422 Cass avenue eloped to Clayton and were married, much against the wishes of Seketer's mother. Recently the Seketers gave up the pretty flat at 3431 Cass avenue, where they declare they lived happily, and went to reside at 919 North Fourteenth street, four doors from Seketer's place of business.

Seketer was arrested Aug. 26 on a charge of assault and battery. Specifically, he was accused of throwing Mrs. Seketer out of the office where he works.

Seketer told the court that some time ago he gave to Mrs. Seketer, to have and to hold, but not to possess in fee simple, $50, until such time as he might need it.

"I deposited the money with her," he said, "just as a man would deposit it in a bank. When I wanted it she would not give it up. I was unable to draw on my deposit."

Mrs. Seketer testified that Seketer had not given her the money to hold for him, and that when he insisted that he had done so he grew angry and departed from the house, taking with him all of his clothing and all of hers except a wrapper and a sunbonnet.

"I went to his place of business to get my clothes," she said, "and he caught hold of me and threw me out of the building."

BATTLE OF THE FROCKS IS ON AT THE INTERNATIONAL FASHION SHOW

All Womankind's Needs in Toilets Are Shown in Latest Modes in Novel Exhibit Which Also Contains Specimens of Costumes of Every Period.

SOME FASHION POINTS LEARNED AT THE SHOW.

Three-quarter coats are things of the past in Paris.

Persian trimming is out of date.

Velvet will be in vogue this season.

Skirts will be fuller than ever around the bottom.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The international fashion show has opened. The battle of the frocks is on. The late lamented Women's Exhibition has its legitimate successor.

All the needs of womankind in the matter of toilet, all the etceteras of dress from its foundation, all the secrets of the female form divine are ruthlessly revealed at Madison Square Garden in the exhibition, which, in its scope, endeavors not only to give a broad view of the present day possibilities the world over, but also of the whole history of woman's costume.

Even the hair restorer has not been forgotten.

The main auditorium has been devoted chiefly to manufactures.

Fronting the entrance, a silk loom is in action and the finished fabric in piece and in gown completes the lesson.

Near by, a splendid importation of laces finds its crowning point in the robe of duchesse lace, which sweeps the floor in meshes that spell hundreds of dollars. Buttons and braids, linings and trimmings make a sequence of interest to the accomplished shopper.

Auto Costume Exhibit One of the Features.

A fine automobile exhibit from Broadway, with autoists in up-to-date array, occupies a central position.

But it is on the mezzanine floor that the real glories of the show are seen. Herein, on the end, are the figures which depict the evolution of dress from Mother Eve's day.

Crinoline and bustle, skirts to show the feet and trailing draperies that weigh a ton make sharp contrast. The ancient panier and the short-waisted gown, the pull-back and all the evils that followed in its wake have a place in the show.

While the Parisian collection, the output of 15 of the best known modistes of the French capital, has one side of the mezzanine floor, the American gowns have equal space on the other.

There are many novelties among the French garments. One is a white velvet dolman, which is a return to the wrap of this description worn some years ago by elderly women. It has long tab ends in front and is trimmed with bands of white cloth stitched in place, and the ornaments of white passamenterie. Frogs formed of Persian trimming fasten it at the throat.

Some Wraps for the Season.

A brown broadcloth has as trimming strips of the cloth stitched in cluster around the skirt and waist. These also edge the fan-shaped sleeves. Cream lace undersleeves and vest give this gown a finish.

A handsome carriage wrap is on the dolman order, the material being of moleskin trimmed with lace, the revers being faced with pale blue velvet. One striking theater cloak is of red satin, three-quarters length. Over this is a shoulder cape of white lace, edged with ermine.

The most tasteful gown, and the one having most character, is a simple affair of dark blue canvas. The side-plaited skirt is striped with braid laid on the edges of each plait. The plaits are lined with pale blue around the bottom. Soutache braid trims the deep cuffs.

A conspicuous creation for carriage wear is of white chinchilla velvet. The skirt is box-plaited, the plaits being stitched flat half way down the skirt. The coat has a cape effect at the back and forms a blouse in front. The revers are trimmed with Persian embroidery.

Woman Saved From Undertow.

Dispatches from Avalon, Cal., tell of the rescue from drowning of Miss Louise Krauss, superintendent of the St. Louis Lutheran Hospital, by Miss Emma Beuclere of 3732B Olive street. Miss Krauss ventured beyond her depth and was being swept away by the undertow when Miss Beuclere and a Miss Walker of Avalon dragged her to safety.

INNOCENT MAN IS SHOT DOWN

Many-Sided Tragedy Marks Serious Wounding of His Wife by William Schlicker.

THEN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Andrew White, Jr., While About to Join in Search for Murderer Is Wounded by an Officer.

THE DEAD.

WILLIAM SCHLICKER, 4337 Gibson avenue, shot himself after shooting his wife. At morgue.

THE WOUNDED.

MRS. NORA SCHLICKER, 4337 Gibson avenue, shot by her husband; improving. At City Hospital.

ANDREW WHITE, 4224½ Chouteau avenue, shot four times in neck and body by policemen, who thought he was Schlicker; improving, but still serious. At home.

PATRICK CONNORS, patrolman in Seventh district, shot in wrist by White; not serious. At St. Mary's Infirmary.

The visit of the mother and sister of William Schlicker to the home of himself and bride, at 4337 Gibson avenue, led directly to a quarrel, the breaking of dishes, the throwing of a lamp, the shooting of the wife and the suicide of the husband.

Indirectly, it led to the serious wounding of Andrew White, a brother of Patrolman Albert White, who had gone to his home at 4224 Chouteau avenue, to prepare to assist his brother in the search for Schlicker, and the painful wounding of Patrolman Patrick Connors, who thought that White was Schlicker, and fired on him, receiving a wound in return.

Mrs. Schlicker is at the City Hospital with a pistol wound in her right breast, ranging downward through the lung, and will probably recover unless pneumonia should unexpectedly develop.

White is at his home, with two pistol wounds in his neck, two in his body and several bruises, where, it is alleged, he was kicked by Connors. He will probably recover. Connors is at St. Mary's Infirmary with a bullet hole through his right wrist.

The indignation against Connors for the wounding of White is intense in the neighborhood where the tragedy occurred. Connors claims that he thought White was Schlicker, supposed at the time to have committed murder; that White was first to draw a revolver, and that he fired on him in the full belief that a murderer had been brought to bay and that he could only be captured by force.

Capt. Creecy of the Seventh district, to which Connors is attached, said Tuesday that a thorough investigation of the shooting of White will be made, and that no favoritism will be shown. Connor will not be suspended unless the results of the investigation are considered to warrant it.

Both Connors and Klippel wore citizens' clothes Monday night. They had been ordered to patrol the neighborhood of Manchester and Tower Grove avenues in search of highwaymen.

Witness Supports White's Statement.

Mrs. M. J. Tansey, wife of a letter carrier, who lives at 4224 Chouteau avenue, directly under the flat occupied by White, his wife, his father and mother, wholly sustains White in his statement that he had not drawn his revolver or made a motion to do so, until he had been fired upon.

Basing their theory on what the wounded man and Mrs. Tansey say, the Whites declare that Connors was guilty of the most criminal carelessness in firing when he did; and they further charge him with the brutality of having kicked and cursed his victim after he had fallen helpless in the area-way adjoining his own home.

Andrew White, father of the man who was shot, said Tuesday:

"We have witnesses who will testify that Connors ran to Andrew, after he had fallen, kicked him repeatedly, cursed him and said:

"'Ain't you dead yet!'

"We can also prove that my son had not made a motion to draw a weapon; that he was standing with Mrs. Tansey on his own front porch, in the full light of two street lamps, when the men who shot him began to fire.

"They not only opened fire on him while he was thus exposed, but they continued to fire while he ran through his own yard, followed him when he ran through a lattice gate into the area-way and, while he was down and for all they knew, dying, they kicked him and cursed him brutally."

Mrs. Tansey says she did not see the policemen kick him, or hear them curse him, but she heard White begging them to "get off of him," and "quit beating him."

"My husband and myself were at our back porch," she said Tuesday, "where we had been attracted by the sound of the shots on Gibson avenue, when Mr. White came running through the vacant lot to the west of the house.

"He called to us that a man had killed his wife, and continued into the house, entering at the front door.

"Mr. Tansey stopped inside of our house, but I went to the front door, and was standing at the front of the porch when Mr. White came down the stairs. I said, 'Oh, isn't it awful?' and Mr. White was saying, 'It certainly is,' when I noticed two men at the side of the house, in the vacant lot. One was several feet in advance of the other, and was almost at the corner of the fence.

"Before Mr. White had finished the sentence the man at the fence called out, 'There he is now,' and instantly fired, the flash seeming to come right by me.

"Mr. White ran down the steps and turned to the right. As he ran the man at the fence opened the gate and came in, still firing. Mr. White had not drawn his revolver, or made any effort to do so.

"I ran back into the house, and, finding my husband coming out, pushed him back and threw myself against the door so he could not go out. He called to me to fall to the floor, and as I did so I heard Mr. White moaning and begging them to 'leave him alone.'

"The moans were coming from the area-way at the side of the house."

Patrolman George Miller of the Mounted District, who had broken in the door of the Schlicker home and carried Mrs. Schlicker down stairs, says he went to White's home soon after the shooting of the young man, and he declares that there was light enough on the porch, where White was standing at the time of the first shot for the police to write their reports. He says he saw them doing it.

Connors Explains.

Connors says he and Patrolman William Klippel had been told at Tower Grove and Manchester avenue that a man had killed his wife and escaped. They saw White going across the vacant lot, and thought he was the supposed murderer. When Connors saw him on the porch he thought he had been brought to bay, and that he could not be taken alive. Connors declares that White fired almost as soon as he did.

Klippel says he did not shoot, and that he saw that a mistake had been made and ran to seize Connors' arm.

Three bullet holes in the fence near the point where White ran into the area-way prove that the officers were firing straight and fast.

The home of the Schlickers at 4337 Gibson avenue, a block and half from the home of White, was in complete disorder and wholly deserted Tuesday morning.

No one was on guard, and the door which George Miller had broken from its fastenings when he ran in answer to Mrs. Schlicker's call for help, swung open. The bed was in disorder, the dining table, still bearing an unfinished meal, stood at a corner of a room that was littered with broken china and glassware; and the kitchen, where Schlicker killed himself, was stained with his blood and littered with the fragments of a lamp which, according to Mrs. R. C. Lange of 4338 Chouteau avenue, the man had thrown at his wife in the early stages of the quarrel.

An ornamental clock, still bearing the card which showed that it was a wedding present sent by August Schlicker, a brother of the suicide, from Vinita, I. T., six weeks ago, stood on the mantel; large portraits of the bride and groom hung on the walls; a water glass lay under the washstand; a cigar and a sack of tobacco had fallen under a table, and wearing apparel was scattered over the floor.

Mrs. Lang says she saw Schlicker and his wife running through the kitchen, and saw him throw the lighted lamp at her, a short while before the shooting.

R. Kruger, a neighbor, says he heard Mrs. Schlicker call for the police sometime before the shooting and while a quarrel between the husband and the wife was evidently at its height.

Mrs. Schlicker said at the hospital Tuesday morning that her mother-in-law and sister-in-law had called while they were at supper and that Schlicker had joined them in a quarrel with her. She says the china was broken then, but declares she took no part in throwing it. She also declares she knows nothing of the breaking of the lamp.

After the departure of the mother-in-law and sister-in-law, she says Schlicker locked the front door, placed a chair against the kitchen door, and called her to sit with him on the edge of the bed.

There he demanded that she leave St. Louis with him, saying he was going to sell the furniture and go away immediately. She refused, and he drew a revolver from his hip pocket and shot her in the right breast.

She tried to escape and he fired twice more, neither of the shots doing much damage. She raised a front window and screamed.

Schlicker ran into the kitchen, closed the door and shot himself through the head.

BRIDE WHO WAS SHOT BY HUSBAND BECAUSE SHE WOULD NOT LEAVE ST. LOUIS

"SCHADCHON" WINS COMPENSATION SU

Awarded $75 for Making Match Between Max Sperling and Bertha Weinstein.

BRIDE'S FATHER DEFENDAN

A. Arnswsky Declared Weinstein Promised to Pay Him That Sum for Securing Husband.

By proving that he had been a successful "Schadchon," A. Arnswsky of 2331 Franklin avenue won a suit for $75 against I. Weinstein of 1123 North Thirteenth street.

A "schadchon" is matchmaker. Arnswsky brought about the marriage of Weinstein's daughter, Miss Bertha Weinstein, and Max Sperling of South Omaha, Neb.

Answsky declared that Weinstein had said he would pay $100 if Arnswsky secured a husband for his daughter. Sperling, after the betrothal was over, gave Arnswsky $25, so Answsky brought suit for only $75.

The case was heard by Justice of the Peace J. C. Robertson. Arnswsky sued the father of the bride, the bride and the bride's mother, but Justice Robertson dismissed the case against the two women and gave judgment against Weinstein.

It is the custom among Hebrews for some friend of a family in which there is a young woman of marriageable age to find a suitable mate for her, and the matchmaker or "schadchon" in nearly every case receives compensation.

Sterling came to St. Louis July 17, and on July 19 the betrothal between him and Miss Weinstein took place. At the close of the betrothal ceremonies Arnswsky requested his compensation. Weinstein said he had not promised to pay the $100, and the suit followed. The marriage will be consummated tonight at the Tiferth Israel Hall, Ninth and Wash streets.

GIVES UP WIFE TO HER COUNT

Unhappy Husband, Twice the Victim of Faithless Mate, Files Suit for Divorce.

Charles Walters declares that the love of his wife for an aristocratic hermit-fisherman is stronger than her regard for the marriage vows taken eleven years ago. After waiting for more than a year for her to return to him and their two sons, he has filed suit in the circuit court at Clayton for a divorce.

Walters says Count Otto von Reisinger, handsome, polished, aristocratic, mysterious, is the cause of his domestic troubles. He declares that his wife and the count are together somewhere, but says he does not know their place of abode.

Mrs. Walters' parents say that she is yet in St. Louis, but say they do not know her address. They also say they do not know whether she is with the fascinating nobleman.

Mrs. Walters' two boys are with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George Posch, at 9935 Sadie street. Mrs. Walters and the count also lived at the home of the woman's parents until a comparatively recent date.

Walters and his friends profess to believe that the count may soon complete plans to end his hermitage and return to Germany, where, he says, he has noble family and great estates.

Count Otto von Reisinger is aristocratic in appearance. Mrs. Walters is pretty.

Count Otto, dwelling alone in his hermit hut on the banks of the Mississippi below Carondelet, saw her one day while she was spending an afternoon in a shady nook, fishing.

He was fascinated. All the ardor of his long-starved soul cried out for her. He sought and obtained an introduction, and became first a visitor and then a wooer in the Walters home.

Mrs. Walters, captivated by his soft tones and pleasing address, listened to his wooing and heeded. One day in May of last year the count and the wife eloped. They were pursued by deputy sheriffs, who traced them to Ste. Genevieve and thence back to St. Louis, where they were arrested.

Mrs. Walters wept when the officers took the count from her side and begged them to lock her in the jail with him. They advised her to go back to her husband, however, and, still weeping, she went.

Soon she became deeply penitent, and when the trial of the count was called she appeared on the witness stand to testify as to the truth of the charge that he had fascinated her and led her from her home. The severity of the cross-examination broke down her testimony as to the complete guilt of the count however, and no conviction was secured.

Walters and his wife returned to their home in South St. Louis. The man thought the count had passed from their life as quickly as he had come into it. But, as the mystic fall days wove their spell, he found that he was wrong, and that Mrs. Walters and the count were finding their happiness with each other.

Walters left her in September of 1902, and, after a year, has filed his suit for divorce. He is at present living at 2613 South Seventh street.

Count Otto von Reisinger is said to be a real count, who, exiled because of political reasons, sought refuge and seclusion in America.

We are to have no war with Turkey before Thanksgiving.

A reduction of the freight congestion is good, but an abolition of the arbitrary and congestion would be better.

Strange to say we have been enforcing neither state nor federal law for the protection of the commerce of St. Louis.

The President should take care not to mistake for cowards and weaklings men who pause occasionally for reflection.

So long as we can pay 40 per cent more for American articles than foreigners are asked for them, how shall our prosperity be in danger?

A DREADFUL PREDICAMENT.

They are going to have Parsifal in New York and the burning question is, what is the correct dress for gentlemen for a religious opera beginning at 5 p. m. and continuing until midnight.

A fashionable tailor (that is, a tailor who makes fashionable clothes; he may or may not be fashionable himself) declares it is the most perplexing question he has ever considered during a business career of 35 years.

The contradiction is terrible. The rule is, a frock coat must not be worn after 6 o'clock, and evening dress is not good form before that hour.

What is poor Johnny going to do?

The fashionable tailor above mentioned suggested a way out by following the Chicago rule. The leaders there, he says, "would compromise at once on a spiketail coat, a red waistcoat and russet leather shoes."

Why not? It seems reasonable, and the combination would be pretty.

Anyhow, something must be done to relieve the perplexity of fashionable people. It is more important to Johnny than the Balkan shindy is to Czar Nicholas.

Marconi has taken to promises again. It's a bad sign.

TRY THIS PLAN MOTHERS.

It may be that the case of Miss Hattie Dix of St. Louis will cause a revolution in the tactics of matchmaking mothers who have marriageable daughterse to dispose of and who find that conventional methods are not effective.

Heretofore it has been the custom of these mothers to spend much time and money in the "stalking" of husbands at mountain or seaside summer resorts. The hapless daughters who failed to be plucked from the family tree in the ordinary course of events were hawked about, so to speak, from hotel to hotel, clothed in fine attire and trained to do all in their power to attract the eligible masculine eye. The hunt was exciting, but its ending was marked too often by the escape of the contemplated quarry.

Miss Dix of St. Louis, however, being left at home when her parents went away, promptly eloped to Belleville with her sweetheart and was married without the least trouble in life. It didn't cost the old folks a cent. There was no waste of gray matter in motherly scheming to make the match. The opportunity was there and the young folks improved it. The teaching conveyed in this most emphatic object lesson is earnestly commended to all whom it may concern. It seems to contain the solution of a great problem.

An unstealable garbage receptacle at a fair price will be the delight of every housekeeper. Hurry up the unstealable, fair-priced receptacle.

READING BOOKS.

A writer in the London Academy hazards the bold assertion that no one reads the best authors and no one ever did read them.

Homer, Sophocles, Aeschuylus, Dante, Shakspeare, Herodotus, etc., are the best known authors, but are not read and never have been.

We know that when Herodotus finished his history he read it at the Olympian festivities to thousands. And in those days people cultivated their memories and one reading was worth more than it is today.

Aeschuylus was a prime favorite with the Athenian populace, who enjoyed his tragedies as we do a melodrama. They read them by hearing and seeing them. Homer was in the memory of the Greek people. It was recited so often that everybody knew it. There was a big reading public in Athens.

In our time, in spite of the deluge of books, the best known are read by large numbers, in fact by all educated persons. Shakspeare is in the daily speech. The same is true to a considerable degree of the Bible. How many men over 30 have not read at least one of Macaulay's Essay's?

Sweeping statements are almost always incorrect and inexact. This of the Academy writer is hopelessly at variance with plain facts.

The Furniture News thinks that St. Louis had a larger furniture trade in August than any other furniture market in the United States. The News is probably right.

ONE WEEK'S GOOD NEWS.

An examination of the Post-Dispatch file for one week gives the following bits of good news—acts of kindness, bravery or charity, that help to strengthen one's faith in humanity.

Last Monday's news told of a free open air concert given by the St. Louis Musician's Benefit Association at one of the free playgrounds.

Tuesday's news told of the bequest of $5000 by Jonathan Moore of Jackson, Mich., to Daniel Prime, a negro living at Easton, Pa., for an act of bravery and kindness performed 40 years ago, when the negro saved the white man's life during the civil war.

On the same day was the news of a score of World's Fair laborers devoting many hours of their spare time to the ... of a church. Also the story of Dr. Salazar, who had ... the good of the people of Tampico, Mexico ... epidemic. Also ... Andrew Carnegie's gift of $2,500,000 for the benefit of the people of his native town of Pittencrieff.

Wednesday's news told of the gift of a silk flag by the United States government to James Reeder, for saving the lives of women during the floods at Upper Alton, Ill. In the same day's news was the story of the picnic given to 2000 St. Louis children at N. O. Nelson's farm, through the kindness of the Fresh Air Mission, the railways and Mr. Nelson.

In Thursday's Post-Dispatch we read of Miss Ruth Bryan's intention to devote herself to the betterment of the poor children of Chicago as a Hull House worker.

And in Sunday's Post-Dispatch was the touching story of Grooms Texas Bready, "Sunny Jim," who will have a monument built to his memory by the children, for his kindness to them at Piasa Bluffs.

It is well sometimes to look back at the record of unselfishness and bravery which even a brief period discloses. It is the silver lining to the dark cloud of tragedy which bulks so largely in the news of the day.

Despite the fact that Vice-Consul Magelssen is alive and well and the original cause of the President's order to send warships to Beirut does not exist, it is reported that the order will be carried out for another purpose—the collection of the claims of the United States against Turkey, and the protection of Americans and American interests in the Sultan's domains. There is still a threat of war. Of course Americans and American interests should be protected, but how far is it necessary to go in order to accomplish this end? Why talk of war? It looks as if the President, having started wrong, wants to avoid any admission that he was wrong. But if there is anything worse than a blunder it is persistence along the blunder line.

DR. SIMON'S GARBAGE SCHEME.

Health Commissioner Simon's proposal to have the city make garbage receptacles and sell them to householders at $1 apiece is original and catchy.

But whether or not it would insure the object—the regular daily collection of garbage—it is not time yet for the city to undertake anything so radical. To sell tin cans in the market in competition with private manufacturers is not exactly what people expect as a healthy municipal activity.

It does seem feasible however, to devise a system of registering and numbering receptacles of a legal type so that householders can be protected from theft.

The plea that the daily collection had to be abandoned because legal receptacles were not used was never convincing, but if this concession be made the contractor will be deprived of his only excuse.

A persistent effort to find or make employment for all who are willing to work might relieve the congestion in charitable institutions.

OUR YACHT LOOTERS.

Sir Thomas Lipton will have double reason for remembering his present visit to the United States—his failure to lift the America's cup and the fact that his guests stole thousands of dollars' worth of silverware and linens from his private yacht, the Erin.

"This will never be missed," thought each of these irrepressible souvenir hunters, but by the time each one of them got through thinking and acting on this line Sir Thomas was nearly cleaned out. It was "no harm" to take these articles, of course. They cost only a few dollars apiece; and besides, Sir Thomas is a millionaire, and have we not declared to him a million times that he is a jolly good fellow, which no one can deny? We are his guests and therefore entitled to a souvenir of his visit with us and ours with him. Let us loot the yacht—he can buy more!

No doubt Sir Thomas will be vastly pleased—and the Irish in him can hardly help being amused—at the fact that a movement is now on foot in New York to purchase a complete silver service to be presented to him as a token of friendship and regard for his spirit and ability as a sportsman. This gift will be doubly acceptable. But how will the givers of the silver set convince the public that they are not contributing to a conscience fund?

Public works in German cities and towns are all being absorbed by municipal governments and progress in industrial science has been the result. Everywhere in the civilized world the municipal ownership idea seems to be gaining ground.

If the American Federation of Musicians is successful in its movement to confine the playing of the Marine Band to Washington, we'll have to speak of the latter organization as the Marooned Band.

The war that is not a war goes on in Bulgaria. Until it is war the Christian powers of Europe are not interested in the number of Christians killed.

The decline in the value of saloon property in Texas is about the only one in Texas values.

WHO'D BE A KING?

Pray, who would be a monarch, when
King Peter cannot get Enough upon his royal note
To pay a royal debt?

Oh, sad indeed this monarch's lot,
When bankers will not take
His I. O. U., although he cries
'Tis for his country's sake!

O Peter Karageorgeovitch!
There's many a man, I say,
Who would not trade his modest job
For all you have today.

He may be poor—so very poor
He can't indulge in frills—
But he has always cash enough
To pay his weekly bills.

And if by chance he should run out
And need it on the spot,
He has the friends who'll lend him some,
And that, sir, you have not.

Burglars.

It must strike the observer as strange that, while burglaries are almost nightly going on, we seldom, if ever, hear of a burglar being captured by his victim.

It hardly stands to reason that five hundred burglars can enter five hundred different houses at the dead of night without waking some of the occupants. Even the most experienced marauder is likely to stumble over a chair, to let a window fall to step on the tail of the family cat, and any one of these accidents is calculated to arouse the head of the housenoid.

In the very nature of things he must know that something unusual is going on, and it immediately becomes his duty, as the head of the family, to investigate and to straighten out whatever may be amiss. But how often do we hear of him doing it? Instead of jumping out of bed at the first sound, seizing a revolver or some other handy weapon, boldly exclaiming "Who's there?" and capturing the base intruder, marching him in triumph to a police station and getting his name and picture in the newspapers, how can we be sure that the lord of the household does not ignominously hide his head under the covers and let the burglar burgle away to his heart's content and carry away everything in sight, from his wife's diamonds down to the baby's bank?

We say, how can we be sure, because we feel that something must be wrong. If all is right, why do we not hear more of brave men capturing burglars at 2 o'clock a. m.? Can it be that these marauders choose only the homes of deaf men for their depredations?

His Finish.

Sailing, sailing,

"Das Ewig Weibliche."

("The eternal feminine" of Goethe.)

A woman's soul is woman to the core.
Not man, loose fibered and emasculate.
The feeble monster whom your moods create.
To bruise or pet, to humble or adore:
In all the motions of her heart are more
Than man's intensities of love or hate,
A strength to suffer that outwearies fate,
And a mute patience when love's dream is o'er,
The subtle ways her happy thought can find.
Into the heart and secret soul of things,
Perplex the plodding and earth-delving mind
That creeps on crutches while she soars on wings,
The eternal womanly in the life of all
Flows through her open soul, and shapes her coronal.

THE PASSING OF THE "PANAMA."

From the London Outlook.

Strangely enough Panama hats are not much affected by Englishmen resident in the lands where they are produced. Their vogue in England and the United States for the past two summers was merely a craze. They were worn by many persons who should have known better. Panama hats go naturally with white duck clothing and soft shirts. Cricketing or boating flannels will do well enough, but a stiff linen collar or patent leather boots brings discredit upon themselves or upon the Panama hat. Neither does the Panama go well with a fair complexion and light-colored hair. Your swarthy skin and dark hair carry the Panama best. Girls who wear them should have well-formed heads and a saucy air. Strict decorum and the Panama hat go not well together. Fat men who perspire steadily and readily should eschew them, or rather should have eschewed them, for fat or slim will not wear them much longer. The Panama hat is dying. Any specimens which cost three guineas or over may be kept as a curiosity. Under that price they may be burned or converted into baskets.

The plaited skirt is trimmed near the bottom, stimulating the heading in a flounce, with insertion and motifs of yellowish lace. The blouse, drawn in with a wide plaited girdle, is covered with a fichu-like collar, draped in front and finished in points in the back. This is bordered with a ball fringe. The plastron is of lace and the cravat is of mauve mousseline de soie and lace. The elbow sleeves are finished with rever-like tabs, bordered with the ball fringe. These sleeves fall over puffs of the material, which are finished with deep cuffs of lace. The latter extend up over the puffs in gauntlet fashion.—La Guide des Couturieres.

FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS

HOW THE ROOSTER LEARNED A LESSON.

Drove Him Up and Down the Road.

There was a rooster who was so large that a boy hitched him up to a wagon and drove him up and down the road.

"Ah!" exclaimed the rooster. "It is much nicer to be a horse than a rooster. I shall always be a horse."

And he felt very proud, indeed of his new accomplishment.

When night came his master put a halter on him and tied him in a regular horse stall and gave him an armful of hay and a bucket of water for his supper.

Mr. Rooster made an effort to make a meal of these, but without success, nor was he able to sleep standing up there in the stall.

When his master came through the stable to see if all was well, the rooster said:

"Please, sir, I don't think I like being a horse. Please let me be a rooster again."

And his master was a good person and granted his request.

HOME FOLKS' ESTIMATE.

"My golly," said the old settler. "And so you're the chap that used to be little Sammy Simpson—Squinty Sammy we used to call you, I think."

"Yes," replied the distinguished looking gentleman, "I'm Sammy Simpson."

"Well, well, well! And they say you're makin' $15,000 or $20,000 a year up to the city."

"Yes, along about that."

"My George! Them people up there must have wads of money to throw at every blame fool as comes along, I guess."—Chicago Record-Herald.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

THE MAN FROM THE CROWD.

Men seem as alike as the leaves on the trees,
As alike as the bees in a swarming of bees;
And we look at the millions that make up the state,
All equally little and equally great.
And the pride of our courage is cowed.
Then fate calls for a man who is larger than men—
There 's a surge in the crowd—there 's a movement—and then
There arises the man who is larger than men—
And the man comes up from the crowd.

The chasers of trifles run hither and yon,
And the little small days of small things still go on.
And the world seems no better at sunset than dawn.
And the race still increases its plentiful spawn.
And the voice of our wailing is loud.
Then the great deed calls out for the Great Man to come.
And the crowd, unbelieving, sits sullen and dumb—
But the Great Deed is done, for the Great Man is co...

Aye, the man comes up from the crowd.
There's a dead hum of voices, all say the same thing.
And our forefathers' songs are the songs that we sing,
And the deeds by our fathers and grandfathers done
Are done by the son of the son of the son,
And our heads in contrition are bowed.
Lo, a call for a man who shall make all things new Goes down through the throng! See! he rises in view!
Make room for the man who shall make all things new!—
For the man who comes up from the crowd.

And where is the man who comes up from the throng
Who does the new deed and who sings the new song,
And who makes the old world as a world that is new?
And who is the man? It is you! it is you!
And our praise is exultant and proud.
We are waiting for you there—for you are the man!
Come up from the jostle as soon as you can:
Come up from the crowd there, for you are the man—
The man who comes up from the crowd.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Historical Points of Interest.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will the readers of the Post-Dispatch kindly give through same the name and location of some of the old residences, bridges, buildings, monuments, etc., in or near this city, with a few words of history regarding same. I am a young amateur photographer and wish to keep a record of the progress of this great city. I think this will interest many others also.

Election of Senators.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Post-Dispatch is right again. It me good to read in it, "Senators ought be elected by the people." I think the voices the sentiments of most all just-minded people. I like the initiative and referendum. Hurrah for the fearless Post-Dispatch. A VOTER.

Our Drinking Water.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

One of the crimes of the country is that St. Louisans are forced to drink the filth of Chicago and as it has been proven that the people of St. Louis are slowly but surely poisoned by it, would it not be advisable, practical and much cheaper to get our water supply from the Mississippi river above the mouth of the Illinois river by pipe lines. The old Romans did such things; why cannot we do it?

St. Louis. OLD READER.

Helps to Keep Us Young.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why are people apt to give up the aid of becoming and attractive dress as they grow older? It is a time when dress is most needed to keep up the good looks. Attractive looks are an aid to the young, and are even more so to the old. Cheerful diversions are apt to be abandoned, and the old allow themselves to get into a groove and it is apt to be one of complaint because things and people "are not what they were when they were young." There are many kinds of work for which an old person is better fitted than any young person can be, and they should not let themselves fall out of line, but should keep abreast of the times, and all the improvements of this progressive age. One may be old in years, but never should be in mind and feeling. DOROTHY DEAN.

The Motorman's Problem.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am a motorman on the Bellefontaine line and would like to give, through your correspondents' column, my experience in running my car from Carondelet as far north as Olive street and would like to ask some intelligent person if I did right and if the best interests of the people on the car and along the line were observed?

I left Primm street, Carondelet, about 7 a. m. At this time the travel is heaviest, everyone anxious to get to their work. Everything went smoothly until we reached Meramec street, which is 600 south. Here we found a heavy wagon "stuck" on the track and before we could get it out of the way we were nine minutes late, and three cars had pulled up behind us. When we proceeded we found the people gathered along the line in such numbers that I could not possibly handle them with my car, which was already crowded, but I thought of the protests that have been published about cars not stopping, so I decided to make every stop where there was a passenger waiting. I had not gone more than half a dozen blocks before they were hanging all over my car—on the steps, on the bumpers—wherever they could get "finger and toe" hold, but I continued to stop when I knew no one could get on my car. Occasionally some one would want to leave the car and it would take them at least a minute to elbow their way to the street. I never worked harder in my life, still I kept losing time, besides, I was blocking the whole line, holding those empty cars behind me, and by the time I reached Olive street I was 15 minutes la... But if I had been permitted, as soon as ... car was loaded, to proceed without ... I would have got out of the way ... other cars, giving them a chance to ... and pick up the people, and we al... have reached Olive street on or n... time, and no one would have been l... as it was we were all from five to ... utes late.

Perhaps those on my car would say I was silly for stopping when I knew no one could get on my car, while those waiting on the corner perhaps would throw a gas-pipe on the track or point a cannon at the car if I did not stop. How are we to please everybody? J. B. BOWMER.

WHAT MAKES FOR HAPPINESS.

THE FOOL KILLER

By O. B. Joyful.

care not who may make a country's laws
Or write its songs or teach its country schools,
If I may be the undisputed cause
Of killing off its fools.

"Three in one day!" mused the Fool Killer Monday afternoon, speaking of the world's record he had established during the day killing off three chumps in succession because of various high crimes and misdemeans, such as asking "How does this weather strike you?" and "What d' y' know today?"

"Three in one day is remarkable, but here is one more chump I am bound to get today.

He is the chump who sits behind
You at the summer shows,
Recalling each "act" on the bill
And telling "how it goes."

No matter how it worries you,
No matter how you're vexed,
He's always Johnnie-on-the-spot
With what is coming next.

He has no pity in his soul
For those who sit around,
But keeps on stirring up the air
With most discordant sound.

He is a chumperino right,
And yet he hasn't sense
To know that people want his life,
He is so very dense.

"Yes, that's the chump I am after today," said the Fool Killer, "and I know right where to find him. Forest Park Highlands. I've seen him there every week this summer. I'll go out and land him tonight."

So the Fool Killer went out to "the big place on the hill" and got a good seat—G10 down front—and waited for developments.

The Summer Garden Chump was not busy during the early part of the evening, because most of the program was new to him, but when James J. Corbett came out to do his little turn and tell how and why he failed to fix Jeffries' clock, the Summer Garden Chump nearly fell all over himself for very joy, for he knew that here was his great chance to let everybody know that he was a real hity-tity, up-to-date entertainer himself, and that the only reason he is not on the boards himself is because he couldn't afford to work for a week. It also gave him an opportunity to show that he was up to the minute on the sporting news.

"I seen him when he was here last summer," said the Chump to the girl he was with. "Looks just the same as he did then. Not a day older. Some people say that Corbett is 37 years old, but I don't believe it. He can't be over 27 or 28. Why, he was only 17 when he licked John L. Sullivan. Now he's going to tell that story about what his father said to him when he whipped two boys once when he was a kid. No, that's the story about what his father said on the night of the Sullivan fight. Aw, say! That story he's telling about Jeffries now is the same one he told about himself and Kid McCoy last year. He says he tried his best, but that he simply couldn't lick Jeff. Well, I should say not! Did you ever see Jeff.? Why, he's as big as the Blair statue. The man that licks Jim Jeffries will have to do it with a cannon. Now Corbett is going to—"

Well, of course there is a limit to all things, and so there was to this. When the Fool Killer unlimbered himself and got into action those nearest him smiled, and as soon as the audience perceived what was going on and beheld the finish of the Summer Garden Chump there was applause.

The Fool Killer smiled modestly and rejust as the last number was announced.

A MOMENT'S MERRIMENT

NO MONEY NOW.

Mrs. Newwed: Whenever we go anywhere now we have to walk. Before we were married you always called a cab.
Mr. Newwed: That's the reason we have to walk now.

YOUNG OLD WOMEN.

You sometimes see a woman whose old age is as exquisite as was the perfect bloom of her youth. You wonder how this has come about. You wonder how it is her life has been a long and happy one. Here are some of the reasons:

She knows how to forget disagreeable things.

She mastered the art of saying pleasant things.

She made whatever work came to her congenial.

She retained her illusions and did not believe all the world wicked and unkind.—Philadlphia Inquirer.

LITTLE YARNS.

During a recent debate in the House of Commons on the Irish land bill an opponent of that measure referred to Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, who is very handsome, as a charming highwayman who was robbing the British taxpayer. His critic applied to the chief secretary the epitaph on Claude Duval in Covent Garden Church: "Here lies Duval. Reader, if male thou art, look to thy purse; if female, to thy heart."

Charles Dudley Warner, who was editor of a Hartford paper in the '60s, was once confronted by a compositor, who said: "Mr. Warner, I've decided to enlist in the army." The editor said he was glad to see the man felt the call of duty. "Oh, it ain't that," said the printer, "but I'd rather be shot than try to set any more of your copy."

THE ONLY SURPRISED ONE.

"I don't suppose anybody was surprised when the Ketcham girl married that rich young Torrington."

"Nobody except Torrington."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ALAS! TOO LATE.

Kitty: What did you do when he threatened to kiss you?

Blanche: I didn't do anything. Why should I? I just waited until he had committed an overt act.

Kitty: And then?

Blanche: Why, then it was too late to punish him.—Boston Transcript.

HIS IDEA.

Clerk (in big city hotel)—Breakfast from 6 to 11, dinner from 12 to 6, and supper from 6:30 to 12.

Hiram Haverstraw—Gee whiz! Accordin' ter that, I won't see ther city at all; I'll be eatin' all their time I'm up.

THE MAN IN THE STREET

An Unwise Arrangement.

In following out its announced intention to staffon patrolmen according to the percentage they make in their mental examinations, placing the best educated in the downtown districts, and the dullards according to their mental inaptitude in outlying portions of the city, the police board is making a grave error of judgment. Not only is an injustice to the brave officers who through inability to solve abstruse metaphysical or scientific problems, find themselves dubbed "incompetent" and stationed in the suburbs, but it will encourage the downtown crooks who naturally anticipate little molestation from the mooning scholars who are left on guard.

What boots it that an officer can explain the nebular hypothesis or can square a circle, if he does not know a pickpocket when he sees him, or fears to grapple with a confidence sharp whom he sees with a victim in tow?

Of course there are policemen possessing both mental and physical qualifications for the double duties of patrolmen and bureaus of information, but they are rare, and what is principally required in a police officer is strength, courage and common sense. The degrees of LL. D., Ph. D., etc., are of small account in thief-taking.

Ed Butler is said to have a fad for collecting relics. Put relics in your garbage can.

Talk is not cheap when you use a long-distance telephone.

Why should East St. Louis bandits go to the trouble of breaking into a bank when statistics show that each citizen of that plutocratic city has $1000?

Maybe the Shamrock III is a mudlark? If Sir Thomas will bring her to St. Louis we may give him a run for his money in the Mississippi.

It was a foolish pickpocket who attempted to rob a passenger on a car returning from Creve Coeur lake. He might have got something had he made his attempt on going out to the lake.

The local theatrical season is open and those who have looked into it say that it is empty.

We had several of the "cold days in August" which were the conditions upon which it was promised that boodlers would go to the penitentiary, the streets would be clean, smoke abated and other reforms inaugurated, but nothing of the kind happened.

There is some satisfaction in being licked when you can get as much money for telling how it happened, as Jim Corbett does.

Fred Spies, who was arrested for "shoplifting," says that he only learned to steal after he came to St. Louis two weeks ago. A base libel! No St. Louis-taught thief would get caught in two weeks!

A cab driver thinks that he had Bill Rudolph for a passenger recently. Who got the money?

Electric burglar alarms have been installed in the local postoffice. This is all very well, but what is more needed is the installation of bogus contract alarms in the postal department in Washington.

Gen. Grant recommends that the Texas frontier be fortified, but so long as K. Lamity Bonner is on guard, where is the necessity?

WHEAT HARVEST FINISHED.

Rust and Shedding Has Hurt the Cotton Crop.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows: Harvest of spring wheat is finished, except in the northern Rocky mountain states and on the north Pacific coast, where rains have delayed its completion. In the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin stacking and threshing have been seriously interrupted and considerable damage caused by excessive moisture.

While there has been some improvement in the condition of cotton, mainly in portions of the central districts, the crop as a whole has suffered deterioration, rust and shedding being very general throughout the belt, premature opening in some of the eastern districts, where excessive heat proved unfavorable. In Texas there has been much shedding, and while boll worms are disappearing and the crop more promising in the northern counties the boll weevil contiued very destructive in the southwest, central and eastern portions. Picking is now general throughout the southern districts of the cotton belt.

Favorable reports respecting apples are received from portions of the middle Atlantic states, New England and the upper Ohio valley and from southern Kansas, but elsewhere there has been a general declined condition of this crop.

The soil is in fine condition for fall plowing which is well advanced, and some wheat has been sown in Nebraska.

PREACHER DIED IN PULPIT.

Succumbed to Heart Disease in Midst of Prayer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—While reciting a prayer in the pulpit of St. Paul's church at Inwood, L. I., Rev. Gilbert Combs stopped in the middle of a sentence.

One of the congregation, hastening to his side, found the minister, who was 79 years old, dead from heart failure.

Dull Days in Georgia.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Yes, those Georgia cousins of ours were just as lovely as they could be! They only regretted that everything was so dull and they were awfully sorry we didn't come a week sooner."

"Something going on then?"

"Yes; a lynching."

Charged With Poisoning Husband.

PADUCAH, Ky., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Fannie Smith Cox, charged with poisoning her husband, William Cox, at Benton, is in jail here. Cox died from poison, at first thought to have been taken with suicidal intent. At the coroner's inquest, evidence was brought out that led to the arrest of Mrs. Cox, W. R. Burtram and the latter's son, Jordan Burtram. The Burtrams are in jail at Benton.

Increase for I. C. Telegraphers.

CAGO, Sept. 1.—Negotiations, which been pending since May 1, between inois Central Railway and the tele- rs were concluded last night. The demands of the telegraphers, slightly modified, were granted. The long time taken to effect the settlement was necessary because of the fact that the schedules of more than 1500 different men had to be considered individually. The concessions consist of greatly reduced hours and an annual increase in the payroll amounting to more than $100,000. The average increase in the salaries is 15 per cent.

GERMANY AT WORLD'S FAIR.

The Exhibit Will Adequately Represent Nation's Industries.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Germany's exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition is taking form. Some shipments have already been made, and it is possible to forecast the whole with tolerable accuracy.

It will adequately represent Germany in all the lines where collective exhibits are made; that is, where examples of industry are grouped by the government commissioner. For instance, no manufacturers of porcelain are allowed to exhibit as individuals independent of the others, but they must submit to being grouped with others in the same class. The collective exhibits of porcelains, bronzes, textiles, foods, toys, leather work, interior decorations and 20 more specialties will be complete, and will represent the best that Germany can do. The government exhibits, such as transportation, education and art, will be the finest ever sent out of the country. The only deficiency will be in individual exhibits, certain great firms, the Kruppa, for instance, having decided not to participate. However, the Borsigs are sending their best work, while the Heuschels, locomotive builders, will send four engines in the government transportation exhibit, expecting chiefly to impress the Spanish-American visitors.

Joseph Brucker, the St. Louis commissioner here, and Herr Lewald, the German government commissioner, will not finish their work here before the end of the year. They will then go to St. Louis. Herr Lewald is going to Switzerland for a holiday tomorrow, after five weeks' continuous traveling in industrial centers.

Anxious to Demonstrate System.

President Phillips of the board of public improvements received a letter Tuesday morning from Marcus Young of Port Huron, Mich., stating that he will be ready to give a demonstration of the Edson system of reducing garbage at Cleveland, O., whenever St. Louis officials desired it. The bill creating a garbage commission will be signed by the president of the council Friday night and probably by the speaker of the house Friday night, after which it will go to the mayor.

FIND RICH GE[MS] IN A MISER'S [HUT]

Children Then Proceed to Exch[ange] Diamonds for Small Supply of Candy.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Childish curiosity, which caused them to rummage through the hut of a recluse who had lived for years at Bayonne, N. J., has enabled a score or more of small boys living in the Third ward of the city to display proudly diamond rings, gold watches and chains and other costly ornaments and a large quantity of gold and silver coins.

The boys, many of whom go around all summer barefooted and without hats, presented a curious sight flashing their baubles. Most of them did not know the value of what they had found, and for half a day jewels were sold in this city at prices that would have staggered Maiden Lane dealers. One woman bought a gold ring set with three diamonds for little more than the price of a square meal, and another resident got a gold watch in exchange for a large gun metal one and a silver dollar.

The hut in which the jewels were found is situated on the Newark bay shore near West Forty-first street. It was occupied until two years ago by old George Duncan, who led a hermit's life. He arrived in this country with his wife many years ago, and obtaining permission from the Cadmus estate, which owned the ground, built the hut in which he and his wife passed their lives.

Duncan had a hobby for jewels, but it was supposed that all he owned was of a cheap variety. The old man was of striking figure, with long gray hair and white beard, which had not been trimmed for years. He had many eccentricities and had a positive dislike for children. When any of them trespassed on his ground he would chase them with a large cane.

Two years ago his wife died, and several months later he followed her to the grave. After his death no attention was paid to his few possessions, and yesterday Mrs. Maria Preston, the present owner of the land, decided to have the hut torn down. Many children, to whom the old recluse had been a sort of "bogey man," decided to see what the house contained. They rummaged through all the pots and kettles and all the furniture, and found the place a veritable storehouse of precious jewels and coins.

Parents asked the youngsters what they did with the jewels. They were told that they had sold or exchanged them for candy and toys. The fathers investigated and demanded the return of the gems which their children had found. In most cases the demand was refused and many interesting law suits are likely to arise.

POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

EARLY SALES WERE LOWER

Late Weakness Yesterday Continued on the Early Wall Street Market This Morning.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—There was a good deal of bull talk before the opening today which was not carried out by the opening prices. There was a fair amount of early business, but the prices at the start were but very little changed from the close yesterday. London was fractionally higher and had about as many opening buying orders as yesterday.

The remarkably good statement of the Reading's July earnings were expected to be reflected in higher prices for the stock, but the statement of President Baer that the anthracite situation seems to be overdone just now partially offset the largely increased earnings. Other coal operators do not agree with Mr. Baer and say that they have all they can possibly attend to for some time to come.

The coming holidays, when the exchange will be closed for three days, is another unsettling factor in the market, the professionals being decidedly shy at taking on or putting out any considerable lines with holidays facing them.

There is another pool reported as having been formed in Louisville & Nashville and a sharp advance was predicted which failed to materialize in the early trading today. Rock Island, which was tipped to go to 30 today, lost nearly a point in the first half hour's trading. Copper was again a weak spot this morning, the early transactions showing a loss of a point, with only a fractional recovery.

Overnight the sentiment in regard to the taking of the Kuhn-Loeb holdings in Metropolitan Securities seems to have decidedly changed. The opening price showed a drop of 1½ from the close yesterday. Brooklyn Rapid Transit was another weak spot in the tractions, losing to 45½ from an opening at 47¼.

The market lacked support all morning and the buying power was extremely limited and as a natural consequence prices went off accordingly. The early snap, even though it was a bear snap, was lacking and under the leadership of Copper and Metropolitan, losses of a point were made in several of the leading stocks.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit continued weak, the reason generally assigned being that stop losses had been uncovered and sales were made in consequence.

The subtreasury starts the week with substantial gains from the clearing house banks, the reports showing that since Friday the banks have lost $860,000. The sales this morning were light, but 154,000 changing hands.

The opening prices and changes were as follows: Copper, 49⅞, unchanged; Atchison, 64¼, unchanged; Baltimore & Ohio, 88⅜, advance ⅛; Brooklyn, 47¼, advance ¼; Erie, 30⅝, unchanged; Metropolitan, 116½, decline 1½; Missouri Pacific, 95, advance ¼; New York Central, 122, decline ⅞; Pennsylvania, 125, advance ⅛; Rock Island, 29½, advance ¼; Reading, 55½, decline ¼; St. Paul, 143⅞, unchanged; Southern Pacific, 45¾, decline ⅛; Union Pacific, 76⅝, advance ⅛; Steel, 23, decline ⅛.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The majority of stocks were a shade higher for opening prices, but there were few important exceptions. Metropolitan Street Railway dropped 1½ and the Securities Company ½ on a revised view of the transfer of the underwriting syndicate holdings announced yesterday. Southern Pacific and Southern Pacific first preferred also showed slight losses.

Pressure developed against the general run of active stocks on moderate offerings. Metropolitan Street Railway declined 3¼ and Amalgamated, Brooklyn Transit, Reading and Wabash 1@1½. Sharp declines were also made by the western stocks and a few others of less prominence. There was a momentary rally, but some of the specialties forced the list down again at 11 o'clock. The market sagged quite steadily during the second hour and there was a more general display of weakness in the standard stocks. Declines of a point or more in such leaders as St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Rock Island and Manhattan exerted a depressing effect on the entire list. Realizing sales and the failure to follow up yesterday's rise checked any important demand. Metropolitan Street Railway declined to 113½. Anaconda broke 4, Minneapolis & St. Louis and the Alton stocks, Erie second preferred, Kansas & Texas preferred and Tennessee Coal 1 to 1¾. Bonds were irregular at noon.

His Idea of the Size.

From the New York Times.

Johnny Barry, the son-in-law and successor of "Daddy" Florence, who for many years kept the house at the southern terminus of Macomb's dam bridge, in New York, was called upon the other day to testify in relation to a contract wherein the question involved was the number of cubic yards handled in some rock removing and filling in of depressed lots in the vicinity. Upon the stand he seemed to know very little about the matter, and his idea of a cubic yard was so vague that it was suspected he hardly comprehended the term. In order to facilitate his comprehension the judge said:

"Now, look here, witness. Assume this inkstand to be three feet across the top this way and three feet this way, and three feet in height, what would you call it?"

Barry puzzled a while and replied:

"I'd call it a very large inkstand."

CONTINUES DULL FOR LOCAL STOCKS

Prices Sagged Off on the Limited Transactions of Today's Session.

TRACTIONS ALL LOWER

To the Weakness in the New York Market Is Attributed the Dullness Today.

The dullness and weakness in the local stock list today is generally attributed to the weakness in the New York market. Whatever the reason may be, the fact is that there is very little interest manifested at the present time.

The tractions all sold today, the first time in several days. Transit opened at $18.50 and later sagged off to $18.25, the volume of business transacted being of a fair amount. The preferred came in for only a 5-share lot, which went at $66.87½, a decline from previous quotations. The bonds of the United Railways sold to the amount of $5000 at $80 against $80.25 for the last sale.

Other stocks were barely mentioned, Commerce scoring the sale of an odd lot at $320 and Mercantile Trust being weak at $350.

Only Skin Deep

Little Willie Posthlewaite, aged 3, brought an avalanche of ridicule on the head of the house recently. A colored man was selected to whitewash the cellar ceiling and wall and did the job well. A few days after its completion, while the family was at dinner the doorbell rang. Willie raced to open the door, and the colored man stepped in with his bill.

Willie walked backward till he stood in the dining room entrance.

"Who is it, Willie?" inquired his mother.

"It's a man," answered the child.

"What kind of a man?"

"Well—it's a man—just like papa, only he's black."

THE BULLS HAD CONTROL OF GRAIN

They Advance the Price of Wheat and Corn and Close Them Firm.

WEATHER MORE FAVORABLE

But Reports of Bad Effect of Late Rains and Cool Temperature Had the Most Effect.

Grain.

Decided improvement in the weather for both spring wheat harvesting and for forwarding the growth of corn, and fine harvesting weather in Western Europe, but there were so many stories of the damaging effect of the late rains in the Northwest and how unfavorably affected the corn crop had been by the presence of too much moisture and the absence of sunshine, that the bulls were easily able to control the speculative market in both grains. Sellers were a scarce article in the home market, the bear element hardly daring to chirp. Unseasonably small receipts of both winter and spring wheat and a bullish Bradstreet report on the world's visible helped along the believers in high prices. So did the fact that the cash delivered on September contracts was well taken care of, going mainly, it was said, to a big Kentucky mill. The cash market of the day, however, did not show as well as it was, no advance being obtainable and demands more limited. The corn delivered was also well taken, but cash demands at present prices were thin. Oats were featureless. Speculation in grain is principally speculative, hence mostly of a scalping character. Strong news to keep the crowd buying is needed to maintain advances.

WHEAT—Weather conditions were excellent in both America and Europe, in the Northwest the low area having moved out after little rain anywhere, a high barometer replacing the low, and in England weather improving, and in France and Germany fine for harvesting. But the cables showed the better weather abroad had not weakened the markets to any extent, Paris, in fact, being steady and unchanged, while declines of ⅛@¼d in Liverpool and ⅛d in London were not as large as those in this country yesterday. Very much smaller receipts were seen in St. Louis, where the 57,800 bu is compared with 81,850 bu last Tuesday and 356,000 bu (latter for three days, however) last year. At Minneapolis and Duluth, too, only 345 cars reported, which though about doubling the 174 cars of a week ago, were 679 cars smaller than a year ago and 1,725 cars less than two years ago. On the other hand, Kansas City had 376,000 bu, against 217,000 bu last year. A bullish statement from the Hungarian minister of agriculture on world's supplies, indicating nearly 97,000,000 bu deficiency from those of 1902, was made public.

In the local market the buying side was the favorite at the opening, and after selling ⅛c higher at 85¼@85⅛c, and then at 85⅛c, 85¼@85⅜c was bid for December, but outside markets did not hold up and the price weakened to 85⅛c later. September opened ⅛c higher at 81¼c and sold at 81⅝c. May sold at 87⅝c to 87⅞c.

The market was unsettled for some time, December ranging between 85⅛c and 85¼c with moderate trading. September sold off to 81¼c, but when it was seen that the small deliveries were well taken care of there was such strong buying that the price advanced to 81⅝c. December then went up to 85⅝c and May to 87⅞c. Bradstreet's report on world's available supplies was bullish. Closing cables reported declines for the day of ⅛@¼d at Liverpool, and ¼d at London, Paris dull and Antwerp unchanged.

Bradstreet's reported a decrease of 906,000 bu last week in the world's visible, against 2,908,000 bu increase one year ago. Primary receipts today were 805,000 bu, against 1,892,000 bu for three days one year ago, and shipments 406,000 bu against 847,000 bu last year. Clearances in flour and wheat were 268,000 bu.

The weekly government report showed that stacking and threshing in the Northwest has been seriously interrupted by rains, and considerable damage done. The demand waxed stronger as the close approached and as not much for sale December sold up to 85⅝c, closing at 85⅝c bid. September sold and closed at 82c, which asked at close, when 88⅛c bid for May. Export sales were 13 loads.

Cash market—Received 892 sacks and 61 cars local and 1 car through. Steady. It was a slow dragging market, the price limiting purchases, both local and outside, though no advance obtainable. By sample delivered—No. 2 red at 84¼c west and 84@84¼c east side local and 84¼@85c destination; No. 3 red at 82@82¼c west and 83@83¼c east side; No. 4 at 76@81c; no grade at 68@77c; damaged at 57¼c; No. 2 hard at 79@80½c; No. 3 hard at 76¼@79¼c; No. 3 mixed at 80c; No. 3 white spring at 77c.

CORN—In the corn country the clouds had pretty generally rolled by, the weather map having a cherry-ripe appearance that indicated settled weather with warmer temperatures, but as it was cool this morning and there was considerable talk of no advance in crop growth, owing to the lack of sunshine and warmth; no one appeared willing to sell, so that December was bid up ⅛@¼c, but later an attempt to sell September caused ⅝c decline that weakened the whole market. Liverpool was unchanged, as was London. Receipts were 39,200 bu, where 40,000 bu in for three days last year.

December had 47¼@47⅜c bid, then selling at 47½c to 47⅝c. September sold at 46¼c. September sold down to 38c on selling by longs, who didn't want the cash corn delivered then, but later rallied and 46⅝c bid. December also improved and sold at 47⅝c, as all other markets were firm. May had 48⅞c bid.

Bradstreet's available decreased 438,000 bu last week, against 421,000 bu decrease a year ago. Primary receipts were 673,000 bu, against 274,000 bu for three days a year ago and shipments 518,000 bu, against 101,000 bu last year. Clearances were 78,000 bu.

Weather bureau reported weather had been unfavorable for advancement of corn in northern portion of corn belt and warm, dry weather urgently needed, but made good progress in southern portion. Outlook greatly improved in Ohio valley and cutting in progress in southern Kansas and Missouri. The unfavorable report had most effect, especially as there was a report of frost predicted, but where or when "deponent saith not." As none of the cash delivered on contract came on the market for sale a strong demand developed for September, which sold up to and closed at 47⅛c. December had 47⅝c bid, though that asked at close. May sold at 48⅝c, after having 49c bid.

Cash market—Received 542 sacks and 27 cars local and 15 cars through. Light local and shipping demands, but offerings small. Tone easy. By sample delivered—No. 2 at 48¼c local and 49@49¼c destination; No. 3 at 48c local; No. 2 yellow at 50c local; No. 2 white at 50c local and 50⅝c destination; No. 3 white at 50c local.

OATS—No future trading during the early hours. Bids were 32⅝c for September and 37c for May. Receipts were 68,850 bu, against 143,500 bu one year ago.

Bradstreet's available increased 1,260,000 bu last week, against 992,000 bu increase a year ago. Primary receipts today were 705,000 bu, against 1,422,000 bu for three days one year ago and shipments 504,000 bu, against 656,000 bu last year.

The market was entirely neglected for the balance of the day. At close nominally 32⅞c for September, 35c for December and 37c for May.

Cash market—Received 45 cars local and 6 cars through. A good business done and choice grades firm, but considerable off and "skin" grade that slow sale at low prices. By sample delivery—No. 2 at 35½c West Side; No. 4 at 33c West and 33½c East Side; no grade at 31@32c; No. 2 white at 37½@38c West Side; No. 3 white at 36@37½c for poor to the best; No. 4 white at 35@36½c.

RYE—Firm. New No. 2 selling at 57c west and 56½c destination east side. No. 3 old at 54c east side.

Trade Topics.

The annual estimate of the world's grain crop issued by the Hungarian minister of agriculture sets the wheat crop in Hungary at 41,236,700 meter centers (equal to about 3,009,549,000 bu), compared with 46,507,000 meter centers (3,106,420,000 bu) last year. The deficiency in other cereals is about the same percentage. The report strikes a balance between the requirements of importing countries and the exportable suplus of the other countries, indicating a deficiency amounting to 13,270,000 meter centers or 96,871,000 bu in the grain suppy. The deficiency in the wheat crop of the state is about 160,000,000.

A Liverpool grain house cables Broomhall makes the amount of wheat in and afloat for Europe decrease 612,000 bushels this past week. The weather in England improving and is fine for harvesting in France and Germany. Wheat futures declining slowly because of weather reports, and may rally. Foreign news will govern the course of prices. Corn futures steady at last quotations and a slightly better demand for spot.

The Sept. 1 stock of wheat in St. Louis private warehouses is 517,000 bu, compared with 402,000 bu a month ago and 733,000 bu a year ago, when the increase for August was 346,000 bu. Total public and private stocks on Sept. 1 were 3,092,000 bu, an increase last month of 1,668,000 bu. On Sept. 1, 1902, they were 4,863,000 bu, an increase for August of 1,776,000 bu. As 3,277,000 bu came in last month the amount indicated as taken by local mills and for shipment, a small proportion of which was hard winter for export, was 1,609,000 bu, where for same month last year 4,467,000 bu was thus taken. Since July 1 the amount that thus went out of sight was 3,543,000 bu, compared with 7,497,000 bu for same two months of 1902. This indicates that so far on the crop the amount taken for local milling and shipment less than half that that went out of sight for same two months last year.

Liverpool wheat at opening steady, fact of being no tenders on contracts offsetting declines in American markets yesterday; later, distant month sagged off ¼d on better weather in United Kingdom and fine weather on Continent. Corn, after an unchanged opening, steadied ⅛d on buying by importers.

Cash business in Chicago yesterday was 490,000 bu corn, including 340,000 No. 2 sold mostly at ⅛c over September in store. This cleaned up last of the holdings of the firm that sold it, which a month ago exceeded 2,000,000 bu at seaboard. Exporters bought 368,000 bu wheat, 124,000 bu corn and 100,000 oats.

Indianapolis wired: Kentucky millers bidding 82c f. o. b. this territory, which means 85⅝c Louisville and 86⅝c to 88c Chicago, depending on the rate freight of different points to Chicago.

Private stock of corn at St. Louis is 65,000 bu and of oats 135,000 bu.

St. Louis' stock of flour Sept. 1 is 52,460 bbls, against 45,700 bbls a month ago and 33,700 bbls a year ago, when there was a decrease of 3480 bbls during August.

A great deal of mystery surrounds the deliveries on September contracts of wheat in the St. Louis market, estimates ranging from 200,000 to 550,000 bu. As near as could be arrived at about 250,000 bu was actually delivered and that was well taken care of. Most of it was taken for southeastern millers, it was said. Other deliveries were 80,000 bu of corn and 25,000 bu of oats.

New Orleans (La.) Cotton Exchange official statement cotton crop of the United States for the year ending Aug. 31, 1903: Port receipts, 7,724,104; overland, 1,083,383; southern consumption, net, 1,920,072. Total crop, 10,727,559. Total southern consumption, 2,000,725, including 80,657 taken from and counted at southern outports.

Bradstreet's report on available supplies shows an increase of 306,000 bu last week in wheat stocks east of the Rockies, against 808,000 bu increase one year ago, and a decrease of 187,000 bu at points outside the regular visible last week, where a year ago there was 531,000 bu increase. European supplies afloat and ashore increased 600,000 bu last week, against 2,100,000 bu increase a year ago, so that the world's visible increased 906,000 bu last week, where a year ago it increased 2,708,000 bu. The corn available last week decreased 438,000 bu, against 421,000 bu decrease one year ago and 559,000 decrease last week in the regular visible. Oats increased 1,260,000 bu against 992,000 bu increase a year ago and 1,032,000 bu in crease last week in the visible.

The following is a condensation of foreign crop conditions as published today by Broomhall: United Kingdom—The harvest drags slowly, but no sprouting is reported. France—Owing to the recent better weather harvesting is now making fair progress. Most of the samples of new wheat show damage from the excessive rains. Germany—In the central and southern districts fair crops are expected, but in the northern section prospects are poor to bad. Roumania and Russia—Corn prospects are more unfavorable.

When the Chicago Board of Trade adjourns Friday next, Sept. 4, it will stand adjourned until the following Tuesday morning at 9:30. The St. Louis Merchants' Exchange will probably adjourn for same time.

PELTY MAKES GOOD FOR ALL TIME

MRS BARNEY PELTY

BARNEY PELTY

New Brown Leg Weds the Girl Whom He Told to Wait Till He Got a "Rep."

Barney Pelty has "made good."

Whether James McAleer thinks so or not, there is another whose opinion is more important than even James McAleer's, and she says Barney is just the thing.

"She" was Miss Eva Warsing of Farmington, M... the place where Barney Pelty ...wn the main street and know ...rybody he sees.

"She" now is Mrs. Barney Pelty, the metamorphosis having taken place yesterday in the office of Justice of the Peace Carroll.

"'When I make good,' was his cry to her, 'we will be married, if you will.'"

In his first trial Barney beat the champion Boston team and thought he had made good. "She" thought so, too. It was arranged that the happy event take place on the return of the Browns from Cleveland, but, alas, Barney's reputation was almost unmade by the hard hitting Blues, who beat him badly.

"Now I'm no good," thought Barney, and hesitated about calling the ma... off.

"She" had no hesitation, b... straight to St. Louis from Farmi... told him that B. Pelty had m... enough for her.

Pelty appeared on the field in ... yesterday, as usual, and nothi... dreamed of until the double-head... finished, when he announced the weddin... to the management.

PRISONER BURNS THE JAIL

Julius Schmidt Set Fire to Pile of Shavings in Holdover at Venice—Other Prisoners Removed.

Julius Schmit, a demented prisoner confined in the Holdover in the City Hall at Venice, set fire to his cell on Monday night and for a while the entire building was threatened with destruction. Schmit was locked up on a charge of trespass and was to have been sent to Edwardsville for an inquiry into his sanity. In his cell was a lot of wood and shavings left from repairs made after the flood. Carefully piling the material against a wooden partition Schmit set fire to it, and, lying down on his bunk, awaited the result.

Other prisoners, awakened by the smoke and glare of the flames, shouted lustily and attracted the attention of passers-by, who turned in a fire alarm.

Officer David Jones released and took charge of the prisoners, and the flames, which had eaten their way to the Council chamber above, were subdued. Schmit was placed in an underground cell and was sent to the county seat this morning.

TWO DROWNING MEN RESCUED.

Wm. Schlegel and Jack Kansadine of Belleville saved Henry Christian and David Owen from drowning in Lake Christine.

Christian and Owen were rowing on the lake when their skiff capsized. Owen could not swim. Christian was handicapped by his clothes. Schlegel and Kansadine, seeing the trouble, rowed to the assistance of the drowning men. They took Owen into their boat. Christian held on to the side of the boat and paddled to shore.

Uses Knife in Quarrel.

Charles Marino and Pedro Venodo, Italian laborers in the employ of the Illinois Central railroad in Belleville, quarreled Tuesday morning about a shovel. Venodo struck Marino and Marino returned the blow with a knife cut in the side. Venodo's brother, who tried to assist his brother, was also slashed with the knife. The wounds of neither are serious.

The men were brought before Judge Wangelin Tuesday morning. Marino will be held pending the recovery of the Venodos.

Trustful Charley.

From the Washington Star.

"There's one thing I must say for Charley," remarked young Mrs. Torkins. "He is not one of these people who have suspicious natures."

"He is inclined to trust his fellowmen?"

"Indeed he is. He will go up and let a bookmaker hold his money, and never know whether he is going to get a cent of it back."

Beware of Unscrupulous Druggists

who endeavor to palm off an inferior and often harmful substitute on the unsuspecting public. Always ask for HUNYADI JANOS—not simply Hunyadi—when you want the best natural laxative water known to the world.

Another club woman, Mrs. Haule, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial.

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—MRS. MAY HAULE, Edgerton, Wis., Pres. Household Economics Club.

When women are troubled with irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, indigestion, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, general debility, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Frances Cook, Box 670, Kane, Pa., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for ten years with leucorrhœa, but am glad to say that through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her Sanative Wash I am cured, for which I am very thankful."

HOW A RACING YACHT IS MEASURED

The Idea Is to Put a Penalty on Abnormal Sail Plans.

JUST A QUESTION OF INCHES

The Only Problem Is to Get the Square Root of the Sail Area.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—To the layman there is a good deal of mystery about the measuring of a great 90-foot racing yacht, like the Reliance and the Shamrock. As a matter of fact, the task is an exceedingly simple one to any man familiar with arithmetic who is able to use a tapeline and record accurately the measurements it shows.

It is understood, of course, that the measurements are made to put a check on abnormal sail plans and to show which of two yachts has the larger sail plan, so that she may be equitably taxed for its use, and that the smaller yacht, or the one not able to carry so much sail, may receive the benefit in the shape of time allowance.

The challenger for the America's cup is not measured by the present measurement rules of the New York Yacht Club, but by the same rule that has been in vogue in the club for many years, and the one by which all the match races for the cup have been governed. The rules which govern the measuring say that the yachts shall be rated for time allowance according to this system: To the square root of the sail area add the load waterline length, and divide the sum by two. The result is the measurement for time allowance. Like many other things, it is not difficult to do when the system is known.

The spars of the yacht are always measured first. The measurer stretches his tapeline from a point midway between the jibtopsail stay, and the jib stay on the bowsprit, in a straight line to the end of the main boom, with the excess of the length of the gaff measured from the after side of the mast to the end, and over 80 per cent of the topmast, measured from the hounds to the lower side of the sheave of the topsail halyard block. This forms the base line of the triangle, of which the total area of the sail plan is composed.

If, in the judgment of the measurer, there is any question as to the location of the hounds, the lower point of measurement for the topmast will be the upper side of the sheave in the upper throat halyard block. The length of the base line as above defined shall be modified, the rule says, in any case where the spinnaker boom measures more than the distance from the foreside of the mast to the forward point of the base line as previously defined. Any excess of the spinnaker boom beyond this point must be added to the base line.

The measure is then hoisted up in a boatswain's chair almost to the truck of the topmast. At that dizzy height—some 160 feet in the case of the Reliance—he on the after side of the mast, from the underside of the sheave for the gafftopsail halyard to the upper side of the main boom, when it is resting on the saddle, or the lowest part of the gooseneck. The distance of this point from the main deck is to be recorded by the measurer. This is called the perpendicular measurement.

To obtain the estimated area from these figures the rule is to multiply the base by the perpendicular and divide the product by two.

The load waterline length is the distance in a straight line between the points furthest forward and and furthest aft, where the hull, exclusive of the rudder post, is intersected by the surface of the water when the yacht is afloat in racing trim, with any person or persons on board who may be on board when the measurement is taken, stationed amidships, provided always that if any part of the stem or stern post or other part of the vessel below the waterline projects the length mentioned, such projection or projections shall, for the purpose of the rule, be added to the length taken as stated.

The waterline measurement in any yachts, having overhangs like the 87-footers, is obtained by dropping a plumb line from the deck over the bow and stern of the yacht at the extreme points of measurement. A long, flat batten is then floated lengthwise with the yacht, under her bowsprit. The inner end of the batten is made to touch the hull at the stem. The point where the plumb touches the batten shows the exact length of the yacht's overhang. The same process is gone through with the after overhang. These two measurements are then transferred to the deck, and by means of a spirit level set on a straight edge the exact length of the waterline is obtained by stretching the line from the inner end of each overhang.

Having obtained the total number of square feet of canvas in the yacht's sails; in other words, her sail area, its square root must be found, and applied as stated. Every large yacht club book contains a table of allowances for one nautical mile in seconds and decimals. To find what a yacht of any measurement should receive from a larger one, take the figures to be found opposite the smaller measurement. From these subtract the figures opposite the measurement of the larger yacht, and the difference, multiplied by the number of nautical miles of the course, will give the amount of the allowance due to the smaller vessel, in seconds and hundredths of a second.

Example: What time will a yacht of 70 feet racing length have to allow one of 65 feet racing length, in a course of 20 miles?

The time opposite 65 feet is	78.48
The time opposite 70 feet is	68.75
Difference	9.73
Number of nautical miles	20
Allowance	194.60
Or 3 minutes 14 3-5 seconds.

FIGHT OVER BEDFORD ESTATE.

Three-Cornered Struggle Begins in the Courts.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—As a result of a complication arising over the property left by Gunning S. Bedford of this city, who died last February in Paris, a three-cornered fight has begun in the supreme court.

In the name of Eugene L. Bushe and Stephen Fiske, trustees, action has been brought to determine the rights of all persons interested, including the widow. The latter was detained in London a few months ago, charged with attempting to foist a child on the estate. The infant is reported to have died in France recently.

While the estate is not great, there is a large trust fund involved, which should pass to Bedford's heirs.
